Glendale Sewer Contract Sure!

L. A. COUNCIL ACTION DUE LATE TODAY

Local Representatives Are Elated at Solving City's Problem; Bond Issue

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

CITY HALL, LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—The Glendale sewer contract will pass the Los Angeles City Council at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This is the present indication after a morning session that went into the matter fully.

Should action not take place at this afternoon's session the measure will pass tomorrow morning, as all objections have been ironed out and every member of the Los Angeles council has expressed himself as favoring the contract.

Terms of Contract

This will cause all Glendale values to boom, is the consensus of opinion expressed by local representatives present at today's sessions. They are Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilmen Sam Davis, W. H. Horn, Asa Hall; Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce; Attorney Mattison B. Jones, special legal adviser of the city, and others.

By the terms of this contract returned by the health and sanitation committee after full investigation and bearing the recommendation of the city engineer of Los Angeles, a bond election perforce must be called in Glendale within the next 90 days to provide for immediate construction of adequate sewage system to connect with the great Los Angeles outfall sewer.

System Necessary

President Boyle Workman of the Los Angeles city council called Mayor Spencer Robinson to the Los Angeles council chamber, where he spoke briefly, stating that Glendale has a bonding ca-

4 SCOUTS NAMED FOR CONFERENCE

Glenn Cunningham, Bob Eastman, Kenneth Solomon, Chas. Bosserman

Four outstanding Glendale Boy Scouts have been picked to represent the Verdugo Hills District council at the third annual Older Scouts conference at Santa Barbara, September 28, 29 and 30, according to a decision of the District Court of Honor made public this morning.

Capt. William C. Wattles, chairman of the Court of Honor, has been diligently scrutinizing the candidates' applications which were submitted by the various Scoutmasters and a final decision was reached Tuesday noon. The four selected are Glenn Cunningham and Charles Bosserman of Troop No. 3, Glendale, and Robert Eastman and Kenneth Solomon of Glendale Troop No. 2.

In order to qualify as a candidate to the delegation each Scout had to be at least fifteen years of age, rank as first-class Scout and have qualified for at least five merit badges. Each of the Scouts chosen for the Verdugo Hills delegation are very active in their own troop and have good leadership ability.

The Scout Council has selected Francis J. W. Henry of 224 West Arden avenue to accompany the Verdugo Hills delegates as the adviser and councillor. Mr. Henry is the official "Pep-Promoter" of the Council and is chairman of a committee which is studying the older boy problem with the thought of organizing an older Scouts' club.

OPPORTUNITY IN MEXICO IS TOLD

Closer Trade and Social Relations Urged by Those Who Visited There

OPPORTUNITIES for closer trade and social relations between the United States and Mexico were graphically portrayed by the speakers at the Chamber of Commerce meeting held in the auditorium of the Glendale Union high school last night.

Representative Glendalians who have recently returned from Mexico related the results of their observations in the southern republic and pointed out what, in their opinion, Mexico needs.

All Visited Country

The speakers were Mayor Spencer Robinson, Contractor Peter L. Ferry, Herman Nelson, manager of the Glendale Avenue branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank; Dr. Jessie A. Russell, realtor, all of whom had been members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce recognition excursion to Mexico, and Charles B. Guthrie, realtor, who recently made a trip to the west coast of Mexico to inspect some properties in which he is interested.

It was stated by all of the speakers that Mexico needs American capital to aid in the development of her immense and untouched resources, but, even more than money, that country needs the sympathetic understanding of Americans and their moral support in the solution of the problems that confront Mexico after her ten-year welter of revolution and warfare.

Ferry Speaks First

Peter L. Ferry's account of what he had seen during his recent journey through Mexico covered the trip in detail. He started by telling of the advertising that Glendale received all along the route through the singing of Mayor Robinson, and from that he plunged into a review of the social and industrial aspects of the country as they struck him. The smelters of Chihuahua and Torreon appealed to him strongly, the prospects of a bumper cotton crop were dealt with at length, the industrial activities of the city of Guadalajara, the glories of the National Theatre in Mexico City, the mysteries of the pyramids that were created by a by-gone race near the present site of Mexico City, all formed the subject of a review by Mr. Ferry,

Button, Button Game Played by Judge F. H. Lowe

BUTTON, button, where's the button? Remember how you played the game when you were a "kid?" Well, Judge Lowe took occasion to find the buttons which sway the traffic like snakes' hips at the intersection of Columbus avenue and Doran street.

Yes, the Judge saw the buttons, and he says they look to him like they were in their right places. They are where they should be, in his opinion, to protect the lives of school children who congregate at the corner. They will slow up traffic, he says.

There's no doubt about it. Judge Lowe noted numerous motorists endeavoring to steer around the buttons, but such is nigh impossible. He is convinced that good judgment was used in placing the little white street markers.

Perhaps the motoring public would like to verify the judge's statement. But, if you drive around the buttons at Doran and Columbus, look out for the cop. He has a hiding place in the bushes, it is said.

EZEKIEL M'CALL PASSES BEYOND

Third Oldest Member Sunset Club Lived Long in 'Western Wilderness'

Closing a life record of close onto a century, the death of Ezekiel McCall, 93 years of age, and third oldest member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, occurred yesterday, Tuesday, September 25, 1923, at 426 South Adams street, exactly four weeks before his ninety-fourth birthday, October 25.

Because of a slight indisposition, Mr. McCall was unable to attend the first meeting of the Sunset club August 28, but the members were looking forward to having him with them at the meeting this Friday, until news of his serious illness was received yesterday. Out of respect to his memory, the club meeting scheduled for Friday at the E. S. McKee home at 130 West Chestnut street, has been indefinitely postponed.

Study of Life

With the unique record of almost seventy years' experience in the business world, Mr. McCall's life presents a most interesting study.

BULGAR RED REVOLT IS RAGING

Sofia Isolated and Expects Attack as Leaders Flee; Reports Conflicting

ATHENS, Sept. 26.—A report was received from the Bulgarian frontier this afternoon that King Boris and the Bulgarian cabinet had fled from Sofia and that Premier Zansoff had been assassinated. Boris was believed to be on his way to Roumania by sea.

The report was not confirmed. It is the third time Zansoff has been reported killed.

Chief Alexander, leader of the Macedonian comitadjis, minister of interior in the Bulgarian cabinet, has become virtually dictator of the committee, said another dispatch from the Bulgarian frontier.

PRAGUE, Sept. 26.—A report was received here today that reds have occupied all of Northern and Southern Bulgaria. Sofia was said to be isolated and expecting an attack.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 26.—The Oriente express from Paris, which was held up by Bulgarian rebels, arrived here today, long overdue.

WHILE conflicting reports obscured the situation in Bulgaria, indications were that the government had the upper hand and was putting down the peasant revolution. It is charged that Russia furnished the Bulgarian reds with arms.

A Sofia dispatch to the Bulgarian legation in London said that quiet had been restored to all save one point.

Jugo-Slavia is fearful of further trouble and continues to mass troops along the Bulgarian frontier.

The Sofia government announced that many of the rebel leaders had fled into Roumania and Jugo-Slavia.

SCHOOLS ACCEPT OUTSIDE PUPILS

Students From La Crescenta and Burbank Admitted to Classes

The city board of education met last night in its offices at 109-A South Brand boulevard, and, in a session which lasted almost until midnight, discussed a number of matters of interest to the grammar school system.

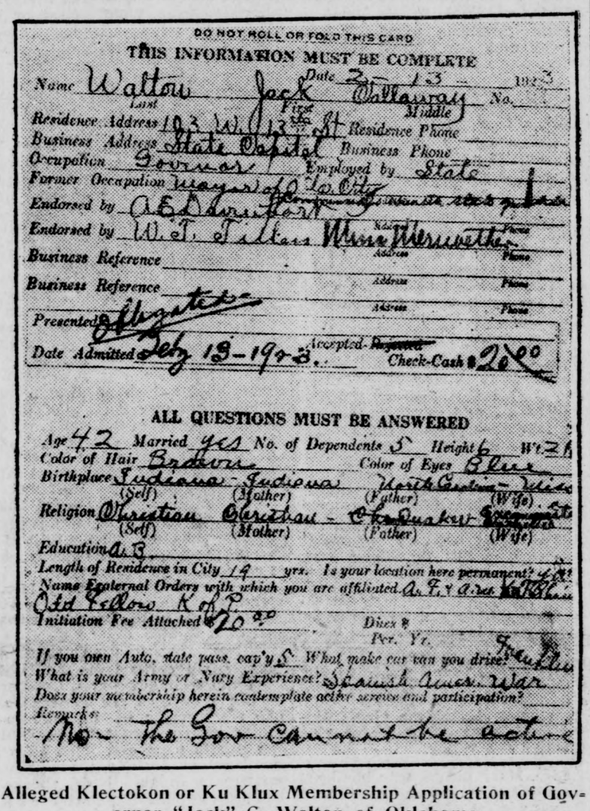

Admission of pupils, who reside outside the district boundary lines, to the local schools was discussed at some length. The applications of nine pupils who live in the La Crescenta school district, were approved. The board decided to accept as many pupils from the Burbank district as the Burbank district would accept from the Glendale district. Because no agreement has been reached with the Los Angeles Board of Education for the payment of the additional cost incurred, no decision was reached in regard to applicants from the Atwater district.

Transport Pupils

A transportation contract was signed with the Pacific Electric. This provides that the board will pay for the transportation of about forty pupils twice a week from the Grandview school to the Central school and return at ten cents per round trip per pupil. This trip is necessary because the

Governor Establishes His Own Paper to Tell Why He Is Warring Against Hooded Nightshirt Organization In State

By Central Press Association, Special to The Evening News

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 26.—This state is witnessing a bitter fight between two duly elected branches of its government—the executive and the legislative. Governor Jack Walton in his war to drive the nightshirted Ku Kluxers from the state has "crossed the Rubicon" and even gone Caius J. Caesar one better by burning his bridges behind him.

Declaring that the Klan had set up an invisible government within the state through control of public officials and the judiciary and was responsible for floggings and other outrages, Walton invoked the aid of the state military.

Troops in Control

In Tulsa, the hotbed of recent disorders, martial law was declared, the writ of habeas corpus suspended and military courts substituted for civil ones.

As the Klan flung back its defiance Walton ordered state troopers into the capital here and armed guards were posted about the capitol and other public buildings.

Censorship of the news was threatened. Editors rose in arms declaring against both the Klan and the governor. Walton yesterday established his own paper, The Record, which scathingly denounced the Klan.

The legislature defied the governor to prevent its session today at the call of W. B. McBee of Duncan.

He retorted by declaring the legislature controlled by the Klan and threatened to throw the members into a military stockade if they attempted to meet, declaring that under the constitution he alone had the right to call the legislature into session and he threatened to arm every citizen of Oklahoma if necessary to break the rule of the Klan.

Solons Also Can Shoot

In the legislature are many men like those who braved the danger of the unsettled west thirty or more years ago, men who have "notches on their guns," and who can shoot straight.

They talk little, but there was grim determination in the attitude and actions, which would appear to make certain that they will hold their ground.

Paraphrasing the declaration of independence, the call for the extra session recites a long list of irregularities by the governor and demands that the house conduct an inquiry into each with a view to bringing impeachment proceed-

GERMANS BOW TO RUHR SURRENDER

Bavaria's Submission to Edict Halts Revolt Feared by Chancellor

ESSEN, Sept. 26.—Ruhr railroad workers unanimously decided today not to work for France.

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Germany was believed today to have weathered the worst of the crisis caused by Chancellor Stresemann's unconditional surrender to France in the Ruhr. This success was due mainly to the fact that Prime Minister von Knilling, of Bavaria, assented to abandonment of passive resistance.

Everyone had expected von Knilling to bolt the conference, owing to the hostility existing between Bavaria and Berlin. Contrary to general belief, the Bavarian premier bowed to the inevitable, realizing that to continue resistance to Franco-Belgian occupation was impossible.

A proclamation was issued, saying:

Retain Territory

"The German president and government hereby are solemnly pledged before the German people and entire world that they will not agree to any settlement which will sever the slightest piece of soil from the German state. Liberty for our German compatriots and freedom of German soil are not subject to bargaining nor negotiations. In order to preserve the life of the nation and state we are faced with the bitter necessity of breaking

'LAWLESS MOB' DISPERSES AT STATE CAPITOL AND BLOODSHED IS AVERTED

Colonel Key Diplomatically Turns Legislators Back When They Endeavor to Assemble Today for Impeachment Session

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
For International News Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 26.—Declaring they were "dispersed at the point of the bayonet," the Oklahoma legislators who sought to assemble today at the state capitol only to be ordered from the building by the military, this afternoon announced in a statement to the people that "the fight has just begun."

OKLAHOMA STATE CAPITOL, OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 26.—The Oklahoma house of representatives failed this noon in their attempt to assemble in defiance of Governor J. C. (Iron Jack) Walton. When they tried to meet "under the constitution" as they said, they were dispersed by the military.

Speaker pro tem Charles S. Brice, of McAlester, at exactly 12 o'clock called the house of representatives to assemble in the rotunda of the capitol on the fourth floor just adjacent to the legislative chamber of the house of representatives for determining whether a quorum was present. Colonel W. S. Key, military commander of Oklahoma City, immediately interrupted and requesting the legislators to maintain quiet, read the military order directing that the legislators be dispersed.

He stated that it was his duty to disperse them, and earnestly pleaded with them that they do him the courtesy of dispersing quietly and in an orderly manner.

Reads Order Forbidding Meeting and Answers Their Questions

"I have my orders from the adjutant general, who has received his instructions from the governor," said Colonel Key. "I hope there will be no trouble, that you will do as I ask," he said, firmly.

He read a special military order signed by Adjutant General Markham which "forbids the gathering or assembly of any or all of these members of the legislature at the state house at noon today or at any other time or place within the state during the present period of unrest on the ground that such a gathering or meeting is an unlawful assembly in violation of the provisions of the constitutional laws and calculated to bring about a breach of the peace, provoke riot and institute a reign of anarchy and bloodshed."

There was a dramatic pause as Coloned Kay, in robust language, read the military order.

Representative David A. Stovall, of Hugo, who stood facing Colonel Key, asked him the direct question:

"Are you commanding us, as members of the legislature, to disperse?"

"I am," responded Colonel Key."

"Have you the entire state militia at your command to enforce this order?" asked Repesentative Wesley E. Disney, legal adviser of the house of representatives.

Solons Obey Command to Move On and Shuffle Out

"I refuse to answer," was the colonel's reply.

There was another pause.

"I want all of you to move on," commanded Colonel Key, sharply.

The troops stood at attention. One of the guardsmen was back of a Browning machine gun.

Immediately there was a shuffle of feet and the "lawless mob," as the governor has termed them, made for the lone elevator that was running.

At 12:08 o'clock, eight minutes after the legislature had attempted to meet, the lobby was cleared, and, shortly after, they were out of the building.

Governor Walton had insisted, ever since he declared martial law, on September 15, that the legislators, whom he termed a "Ku Klux Klan body," would not meet for the avowed purpose of impeaching him.

While the legislators were filing out of the building, some of them plainly indignant—for they had come miles for just this—several groups of girls and state employes stood around, plainly enjoying the legislators' discomfiture.

The legislators got into automobiles and were whisked downtown to their headquarters, at 1101 Skirvin hotel.

There they planned to draw papers at once for a petition against Governor J. C. Walton, asking that he be enjoined from interfering with the "lawful assemblage of the lower house of the legislature."

Whether or not this petition will be filed in the state supreme court or the United States district court has not yet been determined, Representative W. D. McBee, who issued the call for the session, announced, as the fleet of automobiles left the state capitol.

Earlier Reports Tell of First Solons Arriving at Capitol

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Sept. 26.—Exactly at 10:28 this morning the first two members of the Oklahoma house of representatives arrived at the capitol building and they passed through a "ring of steel" and applied at the east entrance for admission, so they could hold a session of the legislature which has for its purpose the impeachment of Governor J. C. Walton. Whey were allowed to enter.

The first two to arrive were Representatives F. M. Boyer of Tulsa county and Marshall Smith of Osage county.

By virtue of their being members of the house, they were vested with a password. This they gave to Colonel W. A. Graves, Oklahoma National Guard, who had been challenging every person who sought to enter. The colonel, after a few minutes, smiled and permitted them to go inside. They proceeded at once to the fourth floor, where the house chamber is located, and stood in the rotunda, awaiting the arrival of the rest of their colleagues.

The house chamber was guarded by four infantrymen in field uniform and armed with rifles. The legislators, on their arrival,

College Women

With the success of the past few months of organization as an inspiration, the College Women's Club of Glendale is looking forward with keen anticipation to the coming year, which will undoubtedly be one of the broadest periods of progress in the early history of the organization, it was demonstrated yesterday at the enthusiastic luncheon gathering of the board of directors of the club at the Egyptian Village.

The club will celebrate its first birthday in January, 1924, and, since the organization meeting the first month of this year the organizers, charter members and officers have seen with gratification the development of the club into an organization equal to others of its kind in other cities, and into a club that shares honors with the Tuesday Afternoon Club as one of the livest and most progressive club organizations in Glendale.

There are now ninety college and university women, representing over thirty colleges and universities, enrolled in the club, and this membership will probably double within the next year.

At the meeting of directors yesterday detailed plans were outlined and discussed for club administration and cultural and social activities for the coming year. These matters will be presented at the first club meeting of the year, the second Saturday in October at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. At that time the club members will have a luncheon, listen to an inspiring talk by Dean Myer of Occidental College, and consider business affairs.

Present at the luncheon meeting yesterday were Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, club president, who presided; Mrs. Paul Webb, vice-president; Mrs. Helen S. Moir, secretary; Mrs. D. F. Reichard, program; Mrs. E. B. Sutton, membership; Katherine V. Sinks, scholarship; Mrs. W. E. Lusby, publicity.

Plan Year's Work

Plans for the coming year were discussed and formulated yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Madrigal club directors with the president, Mrs. Paul A. Hoffman at her home at 327 North Maryland avenue.

The club is most fortunate in having Mrs. Hoffman as its leader, for she is a member of the National Federation of Music clubs, and is planning many interesting things for the club season.

Announcement was made yesterday that a club meeting is to be held promptly at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, October 1, with Mrs. Hoffman. The directing board is to meet the last Wednesday afternoon of each month at 1:30 o'clock with Mrs. Hoffman.

The Congregational church has offered the church as a meeting place for the club, and the first rehearsal is to be held the afternoon of October 8, at 1:30 o'clock.

At the meeting yesterday Mrs. Virginia Freeman was chosen to succeed Mrs. A. M. Draper on the board.

In beginning the year's work, a membership drive is to be held from the second week in October to the last week in November. The membership in the club includes active, associate, student and patron members. The active memberships include those who participate in the club chorus. The associate memberships are $3, and entitle the holder to eight tickets four for each club concert. Student memberships are $1.50 each and entitle the holder to two tickets for each concert. The patron memberships are $6 each and entitle the holder to six tickets for each concert.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman is chairman of the active memberships; Mrs. Helen Mac Mullin of the patron memberships, assisted by Mrs. Roberta T. Young, Mrs. J. Ray Bentley and Mrs. Kugler; Mrs. Bullinger, of the associate memberships, assisted by Mrs. Kulp and Mrs. Viereck; Mrs. Richardson of the student memberships, assisted by Mrs. John Cotton and Mrs. Tuttle. Committees will be announced at the next meeting.

Attend Theatre

Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser of 350 Riverdale drive are to have as theatre guests at a Los Angeles theatre tonight Mrs. A. E. Wallace, Mrs. D. McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rice of Glendale.

Teachers' Club

The City Teachers' Club of which Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan is president, held the first meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at Wilson avenue school with approximately seventy-five present.

The business meeting was preceded by an informal reception to the many new teachers who have been recently appointed to the city staff also giving the former teachers an opportunity to greet each other after the summer vacation. Light refreshments were served by the social committee of which Miss Muriel Wilson of Colorado street school is chairman.

Mrs. Ryan presided at the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Carrie S. McLennan, secretary. Reports were made by the chairman of the various standing committees.

A special feature on the program was a group of vocal numbers by Glen R. Dolberg, who delighted his listeners with his rendition of the tenor solo, "When My Ships Come In," followed by a beautiful selection from Faust, and for an encore, "On the Road to Mandalay."

Prof. C. S. Lindsley, member of the faculty of Occidental college, made an announcement regarding extension classes in university work that are to be offered this year by that institution. Mrs. Ryan made a general report on the conference of the N. E. A. and world conferences held in Oakland in July which she attended as a delegate to represent the club. Miss Carol Duncan, who was also a delegate to the conference, will make a report on the classroom teachers' section at the next meeting of the club.

Miss Ida C. Waite, who attended the conference, although not as a delegate, will report on the superintendents' and principals' section. This was also reserved for the next meeting of the club.

Grand View P.-T. A.

The executive board meeting of the Grand View Parent-Teacher association held yesterday afternoon at the school house with the president of the association, Mrs. Guy W. Finney, in charge, outlined plans for the activities for the coming year.

Plans were inaugurated for the financial program for the year, the first event to be a food sale to be held in the very near future as a benefit for the furniture fund for the kindergarten department.

The first regular business meeting of the association will be held Tuesday, October 9, instead of October 16. Hereafter the meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month instead of on the third Tuesday.

On October 16 a reception for the teachers of the school will be held. A committee to take charge of the arrangements for this affair will be appointed at the next meeting.

Plans for the organization of a Fathers' Auxiliary were discussed and a membership drive will be conducted immediately.

Luncheon-Cards

Mrs. Emil Johnson of 463 Myrtle street was hostess Monday to the members of the Monday Afternoon Five Hundred club at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

The Johnson home was artistically decorated with marigolds and greenery. Dainty place cards and other table appointments were carried out in yellow.

After luncheon five-hundred was played at which Mrs. Homer Lockwood was awarded first prize and Mrs. Leroy Bradley consolation.

Those present included Mesdames Leroy Bradley, S. H. Waller, Mary Griggs, E. W. Cizek, E. S. Dodds, Homer Lockwood, C. H. Thompson and the hostess, Mrs. Emil Johnson.

Board Meeting

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the Glendale Avenue P.-T. A. was hostess yesterday afternoon to the members of the executive board of that organization at her home, 247 West Garfield avenue.

Plans were outlined for a busy year and for the opening meeting to be held at the school Thursday afternoon. Tea and cake were served by the hostess.

Those present were Mrs. Don Erskine, Mrs. S. L. Martinez, Mrs. G. H. Moore, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. F. A. Crizer, Mrs. R. H. Lord, Miss Gladys Sharpe.

Entertains Class

The Berean Bible class of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. J. F. Moody is president, will hold their regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. S. A. Chase of 1439 East Wilson avenue, on Thursday, September 27, at 2 o'clock.

During the afternoon the Christmas box for the missionary will be packed and all members are urged to bring with them their gifts.

Presents Songs

One of the attractions of the first program Tuesday afternoon, October 2, of the Tuesday Afternoon club, will be the appearance of Nell Lockwood, contralto, who will present a group of Indian songs in costume in the sketch "Lullabies, Songs and Dances of the Nations," given by the Matinee Musical club of Los Angeles. This is the third time Miss Lockwood has appeared before club audiences in Glendale.

Plan for Hike

The Junior Campfire girls of the First Congregational church are planning on a hike Friday, September 28, to Griffith park. They will meet at the church at 4:15 o'clock and expect to return home at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Watrous, guardian, will chaperone the party.

Hear Miss Grogan

Miss Sara Grogan of Washington, D. C., who has been summering in Glendale, was honored guest and speaker last night at the dinner of the Glendale Professional and Business Women's club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. She spoke on "Equal Rights for Men and Women," and she was enthusiastically applauded by her hearers.

The dinner was served on a group of tables, approximately ninety club members and guests being seated. Dahlias and roses were used in decoration.

In addition to Miss Grogan's talk, a program arranged by Mrs. Virginia Freeman, was presented as entertainment. Mrs. E. B. Moore gave two juvenile readings; Mrs. John Cotton, contralto, sang "Happyland" and a clever encore, ccompanied by Mrs. Roberta T. Young; Mrs. Mildred Dixon Puffer gave the "Aria" from "Joan or Arc" and a group of songs from the Cadman opera, "Shanewis," accompanied by Mrs. G. C. Erb; Miss Julia Robinson sang "Bonnie, Sweet Bessie," accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Spencer Robinson; Miss Pearl Adair and Gretna Cordary gave a vocal duet, accompanied by Mrs. Young.

Later the Kelly Shrine club orchestra furnished music for dancing.

Dreadnaughts for Sale, May Make Homes Here

Anyone in Glendale want a battleship for the home? They're fine for settling family squabbles, 'tis said.

Good old Uncle Sammie has them for sale. Just think of that proud feeling of having the first one on your block! Would you like the Georgia, Rhode Island, Vermont, Montana or Nebraska? Send money orders to Mare Island yards for any of these, and be sure to mark the shipping address plainly.

Or perhaps you might prefer a battle cruiser? If so, you will have to communicate with eastern yards. They are all out of them here and are not re-stocking.

The vessels are being sold by the United States government, under the Washington disarmament treaty, and are guaranteed to give good service. Government advertisements invite all interested to send for free catalogues.

So step up and buy your winter dreadnaught before the rush!

'Petticoat Lane' Has Clever Cast, Report

Rehearsals of "Petticoat Lane," the De Molay musical comedy scheduled for October 1 and 2 at the Tuesday Afternoon Club auditorium, are developing a very promising cast, according to Paul Morgan, general chairman in charge of the production.

"Marie Tearnshaw, popular young Glendale Union High school girl, looks mighty good in the lead," he says, "sharing tht honors with Claude Whitfield. Catherine Guthrie looks very promising in the interesting role of 'Dutchy,' and Valera Trimmer is clever as the slangy 'Miss Buzz.'

"Among the other principals working out are Winnifred Parker, Howard Elliot, Irvin Carver, Elmer Fitts and Maurice Widdows, the latter playing the part of 'Rastus,' a colored comedian."

Lucien Denny, director of "Petticoat Lane," is a well known composer of music and director of revues and comedies. Two of his shows are at present on the road professionally, Mr. Morgan states. He recently produced "Wonder Why" for the Ebell Club of Long Beach, and after the Glendale engagement will proceed to San Diego and then on to Kansas City, producing plays for the De Molay order.

Two Collisions Mar Day for Cars Here

Two collisions occurred yesterday afternoon in Glendale. One was at the intersection of Chestnut street and Brand boulevard. Gordon Beach Kingsley of 405 West Palm Drive was pulling away from the curb when the left front wheel of his machine was struck by a passing automobile.

The other occurred at the intersection of Colorado and Adams streets. Automobiles involved were driven by R. DeWitt Ringer of Los Angeles and Mrs. E. R. Rich of Hollywood.

INTEGRITY Studebaker SERVICE

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved Intrinsic Value VS. Many Extravagant Claims of Superiority

So many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superiorities that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.

This year the issue has been confused by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

Important considerations have been overlooked and great stress placed upon unimportant details.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or this glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobiles themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing.

As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows. The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find. And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bows. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Big-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled moulding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all-steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowl lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door fittings of other cars. Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned. Highest grade trimming material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.

Compare the aluminum-bound linoleum that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this $995 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap robe rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the forty-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets, in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—Riding is believing.

COMMENT That's All

Belated World Series
Oklahoma's Officials
Where's Center of Wealth?
Five Editorial Quips

By Gil A. Cowan

THE WORLD series—baseball attraction of the year—is to start October 10 this year, somewhat late in the season.

It appears that New York will again have the attraction, the Yankees and Giants having cinched the pennants, as the sport scribes say.

Of course, there are those who care little for the national pastime, but more men would miss their luncheon, dinner and breakfast, too, for that matter, to see a world series game than the number who aspire to elective office.

At which we wonder little when we look around and see who is elected and why and how. Oklahoma has the happy faculty of electing those who are fit only to misrepresent her.

Alice Robertson, congresswoman and cafeteria proprietor, for instance, was a "flivver" as a legislator. Manuel Herrick made a monkey of himself in the literal sense of the word. And now Jack Walton has grandstanded into a political jack pot that does not bespeak his ability.

Regarding the latter we cannot conceive Walton breaking the klan. He is not called upon to do so. And only popular opinion will relegate that order to the junk heap where so many other mystic, secret, idiotic organizations have landed, for, when you analyze the most of them, they are promoted for the benefit of the promoters.

So we hold no brief for either party in the Oklahoma row other than to stand for the government being sustained, and if Walton is governor it is his sworn duty to see to it.

The San Diego Union talks editorially on an interesting subject:

"Where is America's center of individual wealth? This question is answered more or less comprehensively by the figures of the United States Chamber of Commerce in a report on federal income taxes. New York paid 29.30 per cent of the aggregated collected, Pennsylvania paid 11.76 per cent and Illinois paid 9.18 per cent. In other words, these three states contributed over half of the individual levy.

"Massachusetts and California are closely listed for fourth contributing distinction, the former having paid 6.47 per cent of the total taxed and the latter 5.06 per cent. Ohio turned 4.67 per cent into the national coffers, while Michigan contributed 3.36 per cent of the aggregate revenue. South Dakota revealed the largest decrease in personal valuation with 76 per cent, and Iowa and Oklahoma were tied for second with 69 per cent. Illinois showed the smallest decrease in personal assessment with .02 per cent, and Missouri, New York, Nevada, California, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Montana, Colorado, New Hampshire, Wyoming and Vermont followed in the order named.

"The figures are a good index to individual prosperity, and also to the individual wealth centers of the nation."

Here are a few quips from editorial pens that may appeal to your sense of humor, but we confess that we would not spend a half day in Glendale thinking 'em up:

Harvey, No. Dakotans, Heading for Glendale

A caravan, consisting of about two automobiles, is expected to start next week from Harvey, N. D., to Glendale.

The Automobile Club of Southern California received a request by telegram yesterday at its branch office, 248 South Brand boulevard, for maps outlining the route. They were mailed out immediately.

"We get these requests all the time," remarked M. B. Towman, manager of the local branch. "About four times a week we send out maps to eastern people who are coming to California."

The telegram was dispatched by W. M. Wright of 124 West Doran street, who is now visiting in the Middle West.

BURBANK

BURBANK SHOWS GREATER INCOMES

Contributes Quota to Increase in Los Angeles District; School Notes

Burbank has gained sixty-two income tax payers in the past year, a total of 502 being recorded for the present year, as over 440 for 1922, according to figures issued by Rex B. Goodcell, income tax collector for this district.

Practically all cities in Los Angeles county reported gains, the figures show. The county as a whole shows 33.6 per cent increase in number of individual returns filed, which will put it at the head of every revenue unit in the United States.

Schedule of Athletics

A pentathlon contest will be held in the latter part of the school year, announces E. R. Root, who comes to the Burbank school from La Verne where he has been highly successful with grade work, manual training and athletics.

The scholarship requirements for the pentathlon are quite high, he says, and any boy who makes them is deserving of credit. The decathlon, an outline course from the state, a ten-contest event, will precede the pentathlon. Handball, basketball and baseball teams will be organized, each in its season, to provide the proper preparation.

Adequate scholarship will be required to enter the pentathlon, according to Mr. Root, no boy being eligible who has not made "G" or better in at least three-fourths of his subjects.

Two Divisions To Compete

There will be two divisions in the competition, known as the silver and bronze divisions. Each boy will prepare for one or the other of these divisions, according to his qualifications.

The pentathlon will consist of: 50-yard dash, pull up, push up, broad jump and high jump. A. A. U. rules will be observed.

Fully one-half the tractors used in Greece are of American make.

Ezekiel McCall, Age 93, Is Called by Death

Ezekiel McCall remained in the small settlement on the then "frontier" until he was 6 years of age, when he went, with his parents, still further into the "western wilderness" to Daleville, Ind. It was there that he grew to manhood, later serving as postmaster of Daleville during the terms of Lincoln and Buchanan.

Upon resigning from the postmaster's position Mr. McCall entered the retail mercantile business, opening a general merchandise store in Daleville in 1867. Later he went to Ocala, Fla., where he became owner of a number of large orange groves, and also proprietor of a retail furniture store.

Locate in Ventura

Completing his career of "pioneering," Mr. McCall disposed of his Florida holdings in 1890 and, with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Boynton, came to California, where they located in Ventura, and Mr. McCall and Mr. Boynton again entered the furniture business. In 1900 this business was sold and Mr. McCall came south to Los Angeles and bought a small grocery store, which he conducted for seven years, when he retired from active business and came to live in Glendale.

Possessed of a keen, receptive mind, Mr. McCall was well informed on a wide range of subjects and conversed brilliantly of historical events and current topics of the present day.

Heard Lincoln-Douglas Debate

One of his treasured memories was of hearing Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas in their historic debates.

Mr. McCall is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Laura A. Boynton, and granddaughter, Mrs. Alfred G. Hann, both of 314 East Colorado street, Glendale; a son, E. G. McCall, and grandson, Louis McCall of Charlotte, N. C. He also leaves three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Adeline Harter, 88 years of age, and Mrs. Caroline M. Sparr, 76 age years of age, of South Jackson street, and Mrs. Barbara East of California avenue, Glendale, and a brother-in-law, Isaac East of Glendale.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, at the L. G. Scoyern chapel on South Brand boulevard. Rev. R. W. Mottern will officiate and interment will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Schools Here Accept Some Outside Pupils

Grandview school has no domestic science and manual training facilities.

The new ruling in regard to the size of kindergartens was adopted. Previously it has been the custom to employ an assistant kindergarten teacher whenever its enrollment reached thirty-five, and to have an afternoon session whenever the enrollment reached fifty. Owing to the expense, this rule has been modified so that an assistant will be employed only when the enrollment reaches sixty. When it reaches thirty-five, both morning and afternoon sessions will be held.

Complete Faculty

A kindergarten teacher will be released to fill a vacancy in a third grade by this new regulation. As soon as this change has been made, the faculty for the grammar school system will be completed for the present school year.

The Chaffee Grocery Company, 113 North Brand boulevard, was given an order for $109.08 worth of groceries for the domestic science department.

The purchase of a piano for the Grandview kindergarten was authorized from a Los Angeles music house. It will cost $294.20.

Bids for the installation of heating apparatus in the new unit to be built at the Cerritos school were laid upon the table.

David Black, business agent for the school system, was empowered to purchase six additional typewriters for the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school and to have sprinkling systems installed in front of the Acacia and Broadway schools.

DR. LUTHER SPEAKS

Dr. Flavel S. Luther, ex-president of Trinity College was the speaker at the regular weekly assembly held in the Occidental chapel this morning. Dr. Luther is the first of a series of nationally famous men who will address the students during the coming year.

OPPORTUNITIES IN MEXICO ARE TOLD

Closer Trade and Social Relations Urged by Those Who Visited There

but the antiquated farming methods struck him as something that could be improved with material benefit.

Herman Nelson Describes Trip

Herman Nelson, whose subject was "The Chamber of Commerce Excursion," took his audience over the route that had been followed by the party, praising the railroad officials who had charge of the party and who smoothed the way for the travelers through the unaccustomed fields of foreign travel.

"The comforts of the Pullman cars and the diner on the train," Mr. Nelson declared, "appealed to many of the excursionists much more strongly than did the Mexican hotels and the food supplies in them, and from the time the train reached San Antonio, Tex., on the run home, everyone in the party was homesick and speculating on the hour of their arrival at Glendale or Los Angeles."

The closer knowledge gained through the visit to Mexico, and the contact with the leaders in the commercial, social and political life of the country, Mr. Nelson related, is bound to be a valuable asset to those who made the trip and to their associates in this country.

Dr. Russell's Talk

What Mexico has and what she needs formed Dr. Russell's topic, and among the former she listed vast areas of virgin soil waiting to be tilled, forests of hardwoods and other lumber, pasturage for millions of sheep and cattle, tropical fruits that grow with very little care or cultivation, and unlimited opportunities for investors who will exercise the proper care, together with perseverance, courage and vision.

Among the crying needs of Mexico, Dr. Russell declared, is education, for which the sum appropriated this year is considerably less than half of that set aside for the military budget. Referring to the handsome plazas that beautify every Mexican city, Dr. Russell states they are maintained for the enjoyment of the people, and that no one ever attempts to estimate their worth by the front foot, as would be the case in an American city.

Charles B. Guthrie's Views

Declaring that he went into Mexico for one purpose only, to investigate and report on a piece of property, Charles B. Guthrie stated that he found Mexico not nearly as bad as he had been led to expect after listening to the tales of revolution that had been so prevalent on this side of the border for years. "A change has come over the spirit of Mexico," he said, "like that of a child liberated from school; due almost entirely to the recognition by the United States government.

"The line between the peons and the aristocrats of the country is sharply drawn, and there are still thousands of poor people under the thralldom that makes the heart bleed," he asserted, "but there is hope in the realization that better and more substantial relations between the two nations have been resumed."

America, Mr. Guthrie concluded, is not going to have everything its own way in the markets of Mexico. England and Germany already have their representatives on the ground, assiduously cultivating the Mexican business men, and American conceit is not going to carry the American through ahead of everyone else.

Mayor Robinson Jokes

Mayor Robinson, who had been detained by a special meeting of the City Council, arrived in time to tell of the hospitality the excursion party received in Mexico, and his account of the ginger ale that was so plentiful, a ginger ale that blew the corks out of the bottles clear across the rooms, amused the audience and aroused more or less desire in many present to investigate that particular brand. At the receptions and luncheons he attended he had the Mexican hosts Viva-ing for Glendale, so the fame of the city was spread still further than it had ever been before. The mayor occupied the stage for only a few minutes, but he carried his audience with him in a gale of laughter all the way.

V. M. Hollister presided at the opening of the meeting, explaining that this was the first of a series of entertainments to be sponsored by Community Service, and turned it over to J. Arthur Myers, leader of the Choral Society, for a brief period of community singing before calling on Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, to take the chair.

Musical Numbers

Mrs. Mildred Puffer led one of the songs and Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb acted as accompanist. Miss Viola Yorba, an accomplished singer, added the proper note to the program by her rendering of "La Paloma," followed, as an encore, by "La Golondrina."

Following the regular program Mr. Myers conducted another period of community singing.

INTERESTING TALKS

A series of interesting talks by the pastor, Rev. James F. Winnard, has been the feature of the Wednesday night meetings at the Tropico Presbyterian church. Last week the topic was "What the Bible Teaches About Faith." Tonight Dr. Winnard will speak on "What the Bible Teaches About Works." The attendance has been very gratifying.

Fish from the streams of Arkansas have contributed 500,000 pounds of fish to the markets in one year.

MILITARY HALTS SOLONS' MEETING

Governor Walton Wins First Round of Klan's Effort to Oust Him

found troops completely encircling the building. Artillerymen in khaki, with sidearms and clubs, were stationed at about twenty yards apart all the way around the capitol. They walked about leisurely in the bright sunshine, nonchalantly swining their clubs.

There was also a sprinkling of infantrymen with drawn bayonets. They saluted snappily as their superior officers passed from time to time. At the portals of the east entrance of the building was Col. Graves, Oklahoma National guard, and aides. Besides the legislators only those with special military passes signed by the governor were permitted to enter. These were newspapermen.

Oklahoma City took on a more martial appearance than at any time since martial law was declared by the governor September 15, when he charged that the Ku Klux Klan was "trying to run the state." The governor charges that the legislators who announce they will meet today "are a lawless mob, the majority of whom are members of the Klan." If not prevented from meeting today by the "line of steel" at the state capitol building, the legislators intend to proceed with their avowed plan of impeaching the governor.

Reinforcements have arrived here in the last twenty-four hours. Two hundred additional soldiers detrained in Oklahoma City last night and an additional battery arrived here this morning.

No confirmation could be obtained of a published statement that twenty-five picked marksmen, armed wih automatic rifles, arrived here from Tulsa last night.

Tension Runs High

Tension was high at the headquarters of the "lawless legislators," as they made final plans for the "march on the capitol."

Representative W. D. McBee, who issued the call for the meeting, reiterated that the legislators would attempt to assemble despite the new military activities.

Major J. C. Campbell, infantry, Oklahoma National Guard, issued the following order to the Oklahoma City police department:

"Both military and civil officers are directed to disperse all gatherings and to prohibit speeches on the street that might influence the citizens."

Supplementary instructions bearing on the above order were issued to the civil police by Chief of Police Ray Frazier.

A double guard was thrown about the executive mansion this morning. Governor Walton planned to spend the day quietly with his family.

Colonel Zach Mulhall, picturesque "dead shot," and head of Governor Walton's personal bodyguard of some twenty men, said special precautions were taken last night to guard the life of the governor.

"I am seeing to it that nothing happens to the governor during this trouble," said Mulhall. "Last night I had him sleep on the west side of the house instead of the east. We can't be too carefui right now.

"Today we have a high-powered automobile standing at the governor's house. If anybody should try to assassinate the governor or throw a bomb at the house, he'd never get away."

Adjutant-General Markham declined to explain what steps would be taken to prevent the legislators from assembling. He referred questioners to his military order "No. 158," in which he asserted that "pursuant to a special executive military order," issued by Governor Walton that he (the adjutant-general), forbids the meeting scheduled at the state capitol today, "or at any other time or place during the present period of unrest."

Thousands of volunteers are ready to support him in response to his request that citizens between 21 and 45 years of age "hold themselves in readiness" with such arms as they possess, Governor Walton said. He said they were volunteered by telephone, telegraph and mail.

The governor received a telegram from Bascom C. Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, in which it was said that use of federal buildings for use other than business of the United States government is contrary to regulations and that the custodian of the local federal building was so notified. The telegram was in response to one sent President Coolidge last night by Governor Walton, who had heard a report that legislators contemplated holding their "lawless" gathering in the federal building.

At headquarters of the legislators, it was announced they would proceed to the capitol in the same manner as they have in the past, by automobiles or in street cars, the start to be made "shortly after 11 o'clock."

There were indications this morning that a regiment or two of men would attempt to march to the capitol, too. The groups at the capitol buildings were making preparations to keep at a distance the army of curiosity seekers who are expected to be drawn to the scene. Only newspaper representatives with special military passes will be permitted inside the "battle lines."

DEMAND FOR NEW CARRIOLE HEAVY

Nash Product Arouses Keen Interest in Motordom, Says Distributor

Demand for the new Nash Carriole, toned in deep maroon and black, is even greater than had been anticipated. Dealers who have received shipments of this five-passenger, enclosed family car, report to the factory that great as was the previous demand for the Carriole, the new model has created interest way beyond all expectations. Notwithstanding improvements and in spite of price raises by other makes at this time Nash Motors has made no increase in price.

"The carriole, from the day of its introduction, has been a ready seller," said Donald Barbee, of Nash Sales Co., 112 South Maryland avenue, local agents, "and it is not surprising, therefore, that the new Carriole, with its added refinements, should have met with so ready a response on the part of the public."

Attractive in design, the new Nash Carriole provides passenger capacity for five adults, and yet it is priced near to open car standards.

The new gas and spark control are so placed as to be most readily convenient and a windshield wiper is part of the equipment favoring the comfort of the driver. Just below the door step are kick plates to prevent the paint surface from being disfigured in entering or leaving the car.

At the rear a large trunk is mounted firmly upon a heavy rack. Stalwart nickeled guard bars preserve the rear of the body from defacement. A dome light overhead gives a soft, pleasing light. The chastely designed hardware bears a platinum finish. Silk curtains decorate the windows, which are adjustable except in the case of the rear plate.

TO OUR FRIENDS

We wish to thank you for the personal interest you have shown, since our removal to our permanent new home at 205 West Broadway near postoffice.

The carpenters and painters are working hard to make our main office the equal in appearance to any other in Glendale. Our same old policy of making our home headquarters for every one interested in Glendale real estate, whether they buy or not, still holds good with us and we trust you and your friends will not overlook our invitation. Your listings will have careful, personal attention, by courteous, experienced salesmen.

pacity of more than $5,000,000, based on an assessed valuation of more than $30,000,000. The city's present bonded indebtedness, he said, was only $94,000.

K. A. Knowlton, Los Angeles sanitary engineer, stated that a sewer system was necessary for the San Fernando annex and Eagle Rock as well, and that Los Angeles should welcome Glendale's willingness to do her share in spanning this gap.

Bond Issue Needed

The new sewer system will be constructed under the supervision of the Los Angeles board of public works and Glendale will pay its just proportion of upkeep and maintenance based on sewage flow. The diameter of the big pipe will be from 42 to 54 inches. Construction will be undertaken as soon as Glendale has voted the necessary bonds, which will be in the neighborhood of $800,000, although this figure is only tentative.

The Glendale city council and other local representatives are remaining for the session late this afternoon. Every effort is being made to have the corrections in the contract, requested by the Los Angeles council, in readiness for immediate passage or the necessary resolutions, it is stated by Jesse E. Stephens, Los Angeles city attorney.

SKINNY SKINNERS SKIN VAN NUYS

Glendale Lightweight Eleven Fights Itself, But Is Winner, 14 to 0

By NEAL E. SOOY
Member of The Evening News Staff

Fighting hard luck all the way, the lightweight team of Glendale Union High school downed the Van Nuys midgets on the enemy's field yesterday by the score of 14-0. Had it not been for the frequent fumbles, the score would have been much greater.

Dante La Franchi played sterling ball for the little nitro squad, gaining some yards almost every time he secured the ball. He was also responsible for one touchdown. McAllister and Lovell also played consistent games in the backfield, Lovell intercepting one pass and racing forty yards for a touchdown. He was responsible for two extra points as well, booting the pigskin over the bar with ease.

Stillwell and Muff played well on the line, although the former missed an easy punt. He redeemed himself, however, getting the Van Nuys backs by fast tackling several times. Osamu was by far the best player opposing the locals, his uncanny method of slipping through and tackling the offensive players proving disastrous many times.

How They Stacked

The line-up:

Glendale	Position	Van Nuys
Maydwell	REL	Lamott
Reed	RTL	Caldwell
Jonkey	RGL	Combs
Muff	C	Denley
Green	LGR	Withers
Sturgess	LTR	Gardner
Stillwell	LER	Osamu
La Franchi	Q	Schultz
McAllister	RHL	Gailard
Shuler	LHR	Cornwell
Lovell	F	Hilyard

Substitutes: Van Nuys—Smith, Brown, Jones, Davis, Woolard, Hibson, Pierce. Glendale—Roberts, Deadwater, Heideman, Krug. Referee—Youngman.

THE PENNANT RACE

The Giants speeding home today after their final western trip, found themselves needing but one more victory to win the pennant, even if the Reds should win all of their remaining games.

The Giants have five games to play, four with the Dodgers and one with the Braves. If they win one of three and the Reds win four games, the final standing of the teams would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	94	59	.614
Cincinnati	94	60	.610

The Giants will be idle until Friday, when they meet the Robins at the Polo grounds, while the Reds will not play until the end of the week, when they clash with the Cardinals.

P. O. Ruling Designed to Halt Mail Thefts

In an effort to stop the thefts of mail from apartment houses and flats, the postoffice department has issued a new series of regulations governing the distribution of mail to buildings of this nature that are of vital interest to builders and tenants.

These regulations provide that, where no arrangement has been made to distribute the mail for the tenants of apartment houses, family hotels and flats through the office of the building, by employes, a separate receptacle must be provided for every apartment in the building. These receptacles must have locks on them, the keys of which are to be kept by the tenants of the apartments and they must be arranged in such a manner as to permit the letter carrier to obtain easy access to them in delivering his mail.

In case the letters are not delivered through the office of the building or the receptacles are not provided, no mail will be delivered in such apartment houses.

Assistant Postmaster George Hallett has received a copy of the regulations showing the specifications of the mail boxes and the rules laid down by the department, and will permit prospective builders to secure this information on application at the postoffice.

Through a Sieve Woven Finer Than Silk

Raw materials of which portland cement is made come out of the ground usually as solid rock.

They must first be crushed, ground and reground until at least 85 per cent of the resulting powder will shake through a sieve that will actually hold water.

This sieve is considerably finer than the finest silk fabric. It has 200 hair-like bronze wires to the inch. That means 40,000 holes to the square inch.

But the several crushings and grindings necessary to reduce solid rock to this extreme fineness are only the beginning of cement making.

The powdered materials must then be subjected to intense heat for several hours in huge rotary kilns. Here they are half melted and become a substance much harder than the original rock—clinker, it is called.

Then the clinker must be crushed and ground until at least 78 per cent of the resulting product will pass through the sieve woven finer than silk. This is portland cement.

More than 80 power and fuel consuming operations are necessary in cement making. The electric power alone used in producing a barrel of portland cement would, if purchased at usual household rates, cost $1.70.

Few manufactured products go through so involved or complicated a process as portland cement. And it sells for less per pound than any comparable manufactured product.

PICKS GLENDALE FOR AUTO AGENCY

Lewis F. Reed Will Represent Rickenbacker Car in This Territory

The appointment of Lewis F. Reed as agent for the Rickenbacker automobile in the Glendale territory, to succeed A. M. Shoffner, brings to the local automobile fraternity a man who has spent the past eighteen years in the business, gaining his knowledge of every angle of the industry from actual work in every department, from the mechanical to the executive, of some of the strongest firms in this state.

Mr. Reed, who is vice president of the Leon T. Shettler company of Los Angeles, Southern California distributors of the Rickenbacker car, held the position of wholesale sales manager of the firm before buying the interest of Mr. Shoffner in the local agency. Previous to his association with Mr. Shettler Mr. Reed had been associated with Earl C. Anthony, incorporated, Packard distributors, in various executive capacities, his latest post being that of manager of the northern wholesale department, in charge of the forty-seven northern counties of California.

Glendale, to Mr. Reed, is home territory, as he has been interested as a property owner in this region for some time, and he has selected Glendale as the most progressive city in the Southland, and one that offers a better field for his work than any other that he knows.

Besides being sold on Glendale Mr. Reed has the greatest confidence in the car he is selling, believing it to be destined to make an even greater showing in the future than it has done since it was placed on the market a few years ago.

Associated with Mr. Reed are L. J. Baker, retail sales manager, and Fred Van Sickle, sales manager, both of them men of wide experience in the automobile business, while the service department is in charge of Jimmy Zimmerman, rated as one of the most expert mechanics and service men in Southern California.

PREDICTS RAISE IN TRACT PRICES

C. W. Ingledue Co. Pushes Sale of Tract in N. W. Section of City

That the safest investment anyone may make is the purchase of lots in the northwestern section of the city is the belief of C. W. Ingledue, manager of the Ingledue Realty company, which yesterday placed Cumberland Heights on the market.

The belief that this section of the city offers splendid opportunity to either the investor or the homeseeker was the incentive for opening the new tract, according to Mr. Ingledue.

"Almost any land one purchases in Glendale offers a splendid opportunity," he declared. "But I firmly believe the northwestern section is the best. The value of lots in that neighborhood has advanced rapidly. It is still increasing, and every indication is that it will continue.

Ideal Location

"Cumberland Heights is the result of considerable study of this section. We have placed it on the market because we believe it offers the best opportunity in the city to the man who is seeking an ideal location upo nwhich to erect a home, or to the man who purchases with the view to reselling in a short time at a good profit It will only be the matter of a short time until all these lots will double in value. Others in the same neighborhood have, and Cumberland Heights really has more to offer than these.

"Cumberland Heights is only a small tract. A dozen lots in all. And some of these have been taken. The tract is certainly not going to last long at the prices asked. All improvements have been made and paid for. The tract is strictly of the highest class, and restricted. Already Cumberland Heights is surrounded by beautiful homes, and additional ones are going up every day. Situated at Grand View and Cumberland, first street above Kenneth road, on the beautiful slope at the foot of Mount Verdugo, and overlooking Glendale and the San Fernando valley, Cumberland Heights lies in a community in which anyone would be proud to live.

"And if one will investigate the values of land in this section, one will readily see that Cumberland Heights offers such a splendid investment that the few lots in the tracts certainly won't remain on the market at the low prices being asked now."

Lingerie Revue for High School Girls and Teachers Please

MRS. E. C. PENDROY
Who was hostess last night at a lingerie revue for high school girls and teachers.

Mrs. E. C. Pendroy proved a delightful hostess again last night when she entertained sixty-five Glendale Union high school girls and a large group of teachers at a lingerie revue on the second floor of the Pendroy store at South Brand boulevard and Harvard street.

It was a unique entertainment and proved of intense interest to the school girls of the high school sewing classes and the teachers, and all were most hearty in expressing their appreciation to Mrs. Pendroy.

Beautiful pieces of lingerie were artistically presented by five models, all popular Glendale girls. The exhibit was arranged for the purpose of showing the school girls new styles in lingerie, fashioned from rich materials, laces, ribbons and other trimmings at little expense.

New Styles, Colors

The newest of colors and color combinations were shown, such as orchid, black, apricot, pale green, peach, flesh, white in rich materials, with dainty laces and contrasting ribbon effects that make them so much more attractive.

The girls were given an opportunity to examine the garments and were given many helpful hints by Mrs. Pendroy on making lingerie.

Garments shown were pajamas, night gowns, dressing robes, step-ins, Teddys and boudoir slippers.

Following the revue the company enjoyed a radio concert.

Meyer Brothers Shoot 4-Point Deer Here

Another buck before breakfast is the record hung up by two Glendale sportsmen who hied themselves early today to the Green Verdugo Hills, within a mile of the city limits, and shot a four-point deer weighing more than 100 pounds.

Johnny and George Meyer were the fortunate nimrods who are exhibiting their hunting prowess at the Glendale fire department headquarters. It took eight shots to land their quarry, the nimble deer falling seven times before giving up the ghost.

Two other good-sized bucks also were espied by the Meyer brothers, and it is expected that more sportsmen will be out tomorrow morning in the ranges between Glendale and La Crescenta.

Population of the county of Malmohus, most densely populated part of Sweden, is 240 to the square mile.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The White Rose," D. W. Griffith's latest photoplay, shows today for the last times at the Glendale Theatre, where it has thrilled thousands in the past three days by its beauty and heart interest.

For this languorous tale, Griffith has once more dipped deep into the old south for his backgrounds, producing a film that is so much a work of art it will go recurrently appearing, down the years, as "The Birth of a Nation" and many another of his pictures has done.

"The White Rose" presents such stars as Mae Marsh, Carol Dempster, Ivor Novello, Neil Hamilton, Lucille La Verne and Porter Strong, in a succession of marvelously beautiful scenes photographed by that great trio, G. W. Bitzer, Hendrik Sartov and H. Sintznich.

Griffith is still the master of screen art and in "The White Rose" he shows again how easily he reaches the heights.

THE GATEWAY

"The Silent Partner," an absorbing Charles Maigne production offered by Paramount, is now showing at the Gateway Theatre with a cast that features Leatrice Joy and includes Owen Moore, Robert Edeson, Robert Schable and Bert Woodruff.

The story, which is by Maximilian Foster, ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post, where it scored a hit. The theme is one that is especially suited to the screen, the continuity being prepared by Sada Cowan, whose work in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" and many other Paramount pictures has distinguished her.

"The Silent Partner" deals with a young wife who becomes the mute aide of her husband in certain wild stock deals in Wall Street. She puts away the money he showers upon her, and the result is that when the crash comes, she is able to save him from ruin.

Cheap Fares on U. P. Told by Local Agent

In anticipation of a substantial influx of tourists and other visitors to the various beach cities of Southern California, the Union Pacific System has just announced especially low round trip winter excursion fares from stations on the Union Pacific System in California, and from all stations in Nevada west of and including Las Vegas to Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and beach resorts in Southern California.

These fares are effective from California stations on October 1st, and from Nevada stations on October 19th. The long limit fares are 80 per cent of double the one-way fare, while the short limit fares at 66 2-3 per cent of double the one-way fare, according to C. A. Redmond, district passenger agent in Glendale.

Bowling League to Be Organized Here

Glendale is to have a bowling league representing the fraternal orders of the city, according to the announcement of a meeting of the organizations for Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Glendale recreation center in the Jensen Palace Grand building on North Brand boulevard.

Bowlers from all fraternal organizations are invited to the meeting and an enthusiastic gathering is anticipated as the possibilities of such an organization have long been discussed.

To accommodate such a league two new alleys are to be installed in the recreation center.

Essen reports that the communists in the Ruhr are becoming more and more active, agitating against cessation of passive resistance.

Red Support Stops

During the period of passive resistance and while the German government was pouring money into the Ruhr to support idle workmen, France supported the reds. This support was withdrawn the moment Berlin decided to surrender.

The French military officials are now keeping the sharpest watch over the red leaders. They have suppressed all the communist newspapers in the occupied zone.

GLENDALE'S MILK SUPPLY TESTED

Surprise Scoring Contest Is Staged by Inspectors from State Dept.

Representatives of the dairy service of the state department of agriculture, with headquarters at Sacramento, held a surprise scoring contest of the Glendale milk supply within the last week, and the city health department here was gratified at the results of supervision already noticeable, according to Dr. G. Kaemmerling, health officer.

F. H. Sweet is now Glendale's dairy inspector and he is co-operating with other agencies in Los Angeles county in protecting the local plants from carelessness of employes, as well as showing where they may improve conditions, it is stated.

Tests Raise Grades

According to the state inspectors, there is a great difference between a graded milk and uninspected milk, it being conclusively shown by recent contests that a general average of 65 per cent is scored where no inspections are made and 90 per cent where supervision of an approved milk inspection department is maintained.

The Glendale contest was held in the local health department laboratory. It was conducted preliminary to the awarding of approval by the state department of agriculture to the Glendale milk inspecting department, in charge of Dr. Kaemmerling.

Serves as Guarantee

Milk scoring is a part of the service extended by the state department to all approved milk inspecting departments in this state. Only state approved departments are permitted to grade their milk supply, approval only being granted where the local department meets the state standard of efficiency with respect to the manner of conducting the field and laboratory work.

Where an inspecting department does not grade its milk supply it actually means that such department is guaranteeing to the public that the milk is of the quality as indicated by the grade on the bottle cap.

How It Is Scored

The grades of milk are uniform throughout the state, thus giving the public a definite index as to

A. R. Johnson Returns From Visit to Pueblo

A. R. Johnson of 326 East Randolph street returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Pueblo, Colo.

"The city there seems well recovered from the flood of two years ago," he remarked. "A number of people are moving out here. Everybody you talk to figure they are coming here sometime, to stay."

Mr. Johnson is associated with H. J. Blackmore at 508 South Brand boulevard, in the Suburban Realty Company.

Five Years Ago Influenza Was Taking Terrible Toll Of Human Life in America

By GIL A. COWAN

HOW long is memory? Very short you will find, for it was only five years ago that the influenza was ravaging this great country of ours. While there are some who have never fully recovered from that plague, it is safe to say that the epidemic has passed out of the minds of most people. And well that it has.

However, as recollections are the order of the day, we feel that it is only right to remark that influenza took a greater toll in the United States than the earthquake did in Japan.

True, it does not do the vast property damage which visibly affects the financial and economic world, but it did make a mark on the progress of the people which was more searing than war itself, it seemed.

Death List Appalling

Yes, it was only five short years ago that the influenza scourge was at its height. Fortunately, Glendale was only slightly affected, but in Washington, D. C., where the writer was serving the army secret service, and in the camps in the East and Middle West, the death list palled human comprehension.

Thousands were sick at one and the same time in the centers of civilian and army concentration. Gallant volunteers aided the heroic doctors in the fight for lives of their fellowmen. Society women piloted ambulances until they, too, became victims of the fever, and many died from the results of overwork and exposure.

The writer recalls that, when he finally was overcome by the prevailing sickness, after fourteen days of "walking flu," how the infirmary sent an "army eye doctor" to peddle the pills. And when we met three months later, after a siege in the hospital, he said:

Pitiful Incidents

"Sergeant, I never expected to see you alive today." By gollies, we thought so ourselves, for the flu sapped the very vitality of a person and left him wishing for the worst, it seemed.

Scenes in the hospitals, too, one can vividly recall. The boy across the aisle, who begged for bread the live-long night, died two days later of pneumonia. The French captain in the next ward passed away, never to enjoy the cognac his comrades brought him in his last hour.

And, saddest of all, perhaps, was the night the youngest lieutenant colonel in the American army passed beyond, his still younger wife sobbing out aloud over the stillness of Walter Reed general hospital at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Battle of Endurance

One could not sleep—even the nurses preferred working to trying to rest in the heart of this tragic scourge. One could not eat—that is, those who had the wracking cough. It was a battle of human endurance. Many were the martyrs, thousands were the victims.

Yet time, in its wisdom, throws a veil over the memory and today it seems but a dream to a stalwart nation which has its new tragedies and new hopes with each passing month and year.

FIVE BIG EVENTS LISTED FOR VETS

Show Staged in Honor of New Commander First On Program

Five major events during the next thirty days are expected to engross the attention of all members of Glendale Post no. 127, American Legion.

Tomorrow night James F. Collins of Long Beach, newly elected state commander, will be the guest of honor at a program to be given at 246 South Hill street in Disabled Veterans hall. This will be under the auspices of Los Angeles Post No. 8 of Los Angeles, which is regarded as one of the most active posts in the county. A special invitation is being extended to "Ex-Dog Robbers," "Second Loots" and "Misters" to witness the twenty acts of professional vaudeville.

Friday night a speaker, whose name is being kept secret, will be on hand to help make the meeting one of the liveliest this session in Glendale.

Monday night members of the local post are expected to entrain by automobile and journey to Hollywood to attend a "big party." Order of the night will consist of fun and eats.

October 6 the local post will stage a dance in its hall at 610 East Broadway. Syncopation will be provided by imported music.

One month from tonight the annual banquet of Glendale legionnaires will be held in the dining room of the Tuesday Afternoon club house. Plans are being made to make this event long to be remembered.

May Raise Interest Rate on Road Bonds

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Rate of interest to be paid on the next issue of state highway bonds will be determined at a meeting of the State Finance Board to be held in the governor's office within a few days.

Much difficulty was experienced in disposing of the last issue at 4¼ per cent, owing to the unsettled condition of the bond market. It is expected the rate will be raised to 4½ per cent.

Only $6,000,000 worth of bonds remain to be issued.

REALTORS HEAR CARAVAN'S PLAN

San Fernando Valley to Be Well Represented at Sacramento Conclave

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

Realtors from the various cities of the San Fernando valley, who are planning to attend the state convention of the California Real Estate Association next month will hit the trail for Sacramento on the morning of October 9 at 7:30 o'clock. Present indications are that the first estimates of the number of realtors to make the trip will be exceeded greatly when the caravan wheels into line.

Starting from the Porter hotel in San Fernando, the caravan will be headed by the Pasadena delegation, the post of honor going to the Pasadena board because of the fact that that city is a strong candidate for the honor of entertaining the convention in 1924. Most of the Southland cities are supporting Pasadena in this move.

In Fresno Over Night

A stop will be made at Bakersfield for luncheon, and the Fresno Realty board, where the caravan stops for the night, will entertain the travelers with a reception and a dance.

The delegates will make a side trip through the San Joaquin Valley on Monday, October 10, visiting Stockton and Lodi, and will reach Sacramento that night, when they will attend the ball to be given by President Frazier O. Reed.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, 208 South Brand boulevard, who is chairman of the San Fernando district for the caravan, announced committees at the Glendale Realty board luncheon this afternoon, and the plans for all the details in connection with the procession will be worked out in plenty of time to permit all the members to be posted on what is to be done.

Work For Committees

Committees will look after the hanging of banners on the cars, the distribution of advertising matter, entertainment, music, and everything else that will tend to relieve the tedium of the run to Sacramento.

Over thirty members of the Glendale Realty Board have already announced their intention of attending the convention, going with the caravan. It is expected that this number will be considerably increased before the automobiles pull out on the morning of October 10. A special effort is being put forth to induce the new members of the board to join the caravan and attend the convention, in order to see what the California Real Estate association is doing to the development of the profession and for the good of the state of California.

Ranges Denuded of Stock Feed by Fire

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Owing to the thousands of acres of pasture land in Northern California which have been burned over by fires during the past two weeks, a shortage of food for range cattle is in evidence, according to Dr. J. P. Iverson, chief of the division of animal industry of the State Department of Agriculture.

Many stockmen will be forced to sell their beef cattle several months earlier than usual because of lack of feed, said Iverson.

Forced sale of cattle resulting from feed shortage will cause serious losses to the stockmen, but will not affect the price of beef, according to the state official.

Government Plans to Assist Wheat Growers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—An increase in the tariff on wheat and the reduction of freight rates on wheat and flour for export are being considered by the administration to relieve the economic distress in the agricultural industry, it was announced officially at the White House after the cabinet meeting today.

Recommendations to this effect were laid before the cabinet by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who has just completed a survey of financial conditions among the farmers at the direction of President Coolidge.

Article X of League Voted on by Assembly

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—The Canadian resolution interpreting Article X of the covenant of the League of Nations so that it could never be utilized for selfish purposes, failed to pass in the assembly of the League of Nations Tuesday.

Twenty-nine states voted in the affirmative, thirteen failed to vote and one state (Persia) voted against it.

President Della Torriente announced that, as the motion lacked an absolute majority, it must be rejected.

Apartment tenants of Cuba buy their gas stoves and move them as furniture, the landlord not supplying such articles.

Mama Nanita Has Rival Picking Fruit at 110 Years Old

MAMA NANITA VERDUGO of Glendale must look to her laurels. She claims to be 117 years old and is still in possession of all her faculties, enjoys a smoke and loves to chat over the old days through which she has lived here.

But a rival, a few years younger, it is true, but more active, has risen up at Willows, Glenn county, who threatens to overshadow "Mama Nanita."

This is Ann Brown, who is said to be 110 years old, the widow of Jim Brown, the late chief of the Grindstone Indians.

Ann Brown is out picking fruit in the Willows district, her object being to make a stake to see her through the winter, and it is said that she can keep up a gait during the working day that surprises those who watch her.

PATTERSON PARK BEING IMPROVED

Comfort Station and Pergola for Picnics Lend to Attractiveness

With comfort stations completed under the municipal bandstand in Patterson park by Contractor Daniel Hunsberger of 412 West California street, the playground of Glendale is being made an ideal place for family picnics as well as plunge parties.

A rustic pergola, which was recently completed, is now ready for next summer's picnics. This is forty by forty feet in size. Its roof shelters a picnic table with benches for forty people. It is located near the west end of the swimming pool.

Nearby is the sand pile. This is intended for the enjoyment of the "kiddies," although its use is not officially restricted. A shelter is to be built over it soon to shield it from the sun's rays.

Grass seed is now being sown in the southwest corner of the park over an area of about 100 square yards. Patterson avenue, on the north side, will be flanked by lawns.

The flower garden in the center of the park is being prepared for the autumn. Its asters will last a couple of weeks longer. They will then be replaced through the transplantation of winter-blooming stocks, linum, centuria, snapdragons and pansies.

Sam Warren of 216-A North Jackson street, superintendent of the park, is quite proud of its attractive appearance.

Gwen Warner Named To Head Girls' League

Two Girls' league assemblies were held today at the high school for the installation of officers for the present semester.

Miss Gladys Peckham, retiring president, installed Miss Gwen Warner, newly elected president, who in turn installed the other officers: Miss Bonnie Jean Lockwood, treasurer; Miss Winona Neilson, secretary and Miss Barbara Taylor, vice-president.

The new executive board consists of the following students: Miss Fredrica Marshall, chairman of the social committee; Miss Gladys Peckham, chairman of the friendship committee; Miss Catherine Baird, chairman of philanthropy; Miss Katherine Stofft, chairman of school welfare; Miss Emile Berry, chairman of entertainment; and Miss Evelyn Curren, chairman of publicity.

Stunt parties are being arranged for the 19th and 26th of October.

Nevada Ranchers Will Ship Hay via Canal

RENO, Sept. 26.—With an excess production of 50,000 tons of hay this season, a plan is under consideration for shipping the surplus to eastern states via the Panama canal.

The freight rate to San Francisco is $5 per ton, and with a low rate through the canal the hay raisers expect to make a profit, as prices in some eastern localities range from $28 to $30 per ton.

Consent of California quarantine officials for the hay to be shipped in bond to California wharves must first be obtained, said Emmett D. Boyle, secretary of the Reno Chamber of Commerce.

Japanese Savant in Fear of More Quakes

HONOLULU, Sept. 26.—Professor Omori, Japanese scientist, en route home from Australia, asserted here today that Japan will be visited by another earthquake within fifty years and probably within the next five years. He named as the three possible disturbance centers Shikoku island or the coasts of Kishu or Hiuga.

BENEFIT TO AID FIRE SUFFERERS

Southern Branch Stages Show at Hollywood Bowl for U. C. Students

By WALDO E. COWAN
Written for The Evening News

A huge benefit is being given for the unfortunate Berkeley students by their southern schoolmates, Southern branch, University of California, at the Hollywood Bowl, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Ten high-class acts are now being rehearsed by some talented students of the school. Tickets may be purchased from all students who are attending the branch. As this is for a worthy cause, many Glendalians are expected to attend.

An exceptional art display featuring the work done in the summer school at the branch is now being held on the second floor of the Fine Arts building.

Glendale Night at "Y"

Tomorrow night will be Glendale night, along with other suburban cities, for those students interested in Y. M. C. A. work at the Southern branch. Supper at 5:30 followed by speeches will be the program for the evening.

With the addition of fourteen instructors, the branch university faculty now numbers around 165 members. One of the new acquisitions to the Spanish department, Senor Adolphe Jorda, has had the unique experience of teaching English in a German university.

The Women's Hi Jinks will be held in Millspaugh hall auditorium at the Southern branch, University of California, on the evening of October 5. Only university girls in costume will be admitted. The public may look on the antics from the balcony.

Admiral Kittelle Is Queried About Crash

NORTH ISLAND, SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26.—It is reported in naval circles here that Rear Admiral Sumner E. W. Kittelle, commander of the destroyer force of the Pacific, had been called upon by the navy department to explain why he officially cited for conspicuous bravery several of the officers now virtually on trial for the wrecking of seven vessels and the loss of twenty-three lives on Honda head.

One of the defendant officers testified that the grounding of the ships was due to an error in judgment, and not to an act of Providence.

It is reported that Admiral Kittelle cited the defendant officers for their conduct without consulting his superiors.

Legion Would Endow Chair of Americanism

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—In line with the recent resolution passed by the Department of California convention of the American Legion, authorizing the raising of $150,000 as an endowment fund, the income from which would be used to endow a chair in Americanism at the University of California, Dr. Campbell, president of the university, has written a letter to the Legion thanking them for their action and heartily endorsing the stand of the Legion as well as welcoming the support of the organization for higher ideals of citizenship.

Realtor Hanson Monologist and Painter Besides

IF ANYONE were to walk up to Peter Hanson and and ask him what line of business he was in, he would answer that he was in the realty business and let it go at that.

But those who know Mr. Hanson, outside of business hours, know that he is as versatile as a quick change artist and has as many facets to his character as a diamond.

As an entertainer "Pete" Hanson is a riot, especially when he springs some of his Swede dialect stories. And only recently he presented the Glendale Realty Board a picture that he painted of a Verdugo Woodlands scene. It occupies a place of honor in the offices of the board in the Central building on East Broadway.

STYLUS STAFF AT G. H. S. SELECTED

Margaret Longley, First Girl Editor of Annual, Names Assistants

The 1924 Stylus will be one of the best ever published, promises Margaret Longley, editor-in-chief this year. The Stylus is one of the most important factors in Glendale Union High school, being put out by the senior class. Miss Longley is the first girl editor the Stylus has had, but she is showing ability and working on it all the time. She has several new ideas for the coming annual and has selected her staff as follows: Glenn Roberts, associate editor; Horace Anderson and Isabel Tousey, assistant editors; Loren Scoville, business manager; Katherine Stofft, art editor; George McCauley, assistant; Hendrik Von Rensselaer, photo editor; Cecil Chase, organization; Neal E. Sooy, joke editor; Evelyn Curren, events; Tamson Johnson, alumni; Arlin McCormick, calendar; Marie Hearnshaw, class editor.

The faculty have been called upon to assist in looking over the book. Miss Freeman is literary critic; Miss Abbott, art critic; Mr. Webb, faculty adviser; and Mr. Baker, auditor.

Other Jobs Vacant

The positions of advertising manager, literary editor, and snap shot editor are as yet undecided.

Glendale Union High school student body tickets will be placed on sale the fore part of next week. Assemblies to boost the sale will be held Monday morning and afternoon. The price this year has been increased from $1.50 to $2.00. This was necessary on account of the increase of more than $2000 in the yearly budget.

FALLS TO DEATH

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—While his wife watched on, horror stricken, J. Lewis Cochran, president of a real estate company, fell or jumped to his death yesterday from the seventh floor of an exclusive North Shore hotel here. He had been ill.

The drone's value in the hive is even less than the heat-value of dead ashes.

MEAN MAN BROKE SIX COWS' TAILS

Another Stoned Motorcars; Both Now Enjoy Life at Nut Factories

When, one after another, six cows at the Handorff dairy, near Burbank, showed up with broken tails, the manager of the establishment nearly suffered a nervous breakdown. He succeeded, however, after a bit of sleuthing, in apprehending Frank Fortes, an employe there, in the very act of fracturing the lower vertebrates of another of his bovine pets.

The result is that Fortes, after being remanded to the psychopathic department at the Los Angeles General hospital, was dispatched to Patton, state institution for mental defectives, having been tactless enough to throw an epileptic fit while the examination was in progress.

As a result, the cows at the Handorff dairy should be going around with their tails in plaster casts.

Another Mean Man Caught

William Gates, because of a passion for stoning automobiles, is vacationing now on the county farm. He also lived in the San Fernando valley. No, poor William isn't too young to associate with all those rough men. He is close to his three score years and ten—so close, in fact, that he is evidently evoluting back into his second childhood.

The psychopaths, examining his cerebellum, or "coco" as it is called by the hoi polloi, decided that William would be better off out in the open spaces, where he counld stone vegetables to his heart's content.

Two String Trios Are Organized at School

Two string trios have been organized this term at the high school, and under the direction of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the department, are practicing simple music already.

The first trio is composed of Miss Lillian Sutton, violin; Miss Marjorie Potts, cello, and Miss Leonore Rose, piano.

The second trio is composed of Miss Bertha Brown, violin; Miss Elizabeth Crosson, cello, and Miss Lucille Harris, piano.

Rev. O'Neill Recalls Dedication of Church

Dedication of the Holy Family Catholic church here took place one year ago yesterday, according to a notation received from the Rev. Father James O'Neill, now pastor of the Oxnard parish. It was through his splendid efforts that the edifice was erected here after years of tedious labor and he cannot help but remember "the fastest growing city" with a great deal of pleasure.

The Rev. Michael Galvin now has the local charge, which is making splendid strides in its fine new home.

TODAY—Better Teaching Methods; L. A. Has New Curricuum.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—School teaching methods have been signally modernized in Los Angeles by the revised curriculum in the high school which became effective when schools opened for the Fall term.

The new course of study does not mean so much the teaching of new subjects as the application of the most modern methods of teaching to those subjects already a part of the course of study does not mean so much the teaching of new subjects as the appication of the most modern methods of teaching to those subjects already a part of the course of study, according to Assistant Superintendent Arthur Gould, in charge of the high school division.

The revised curriculum is the result of an investigation covering a two-year period and conducted by Dr. Frank Bobbit, professor educational administration in the University of Chicago, and Arleigh C. Griffin, local director of high school research.

"A course of study is a growing thing and can never be standardized," Gould declares. "But the survey which has just been completed stabilizes the high school curriculum here and works it out in greater detail than has ever been attempted before."

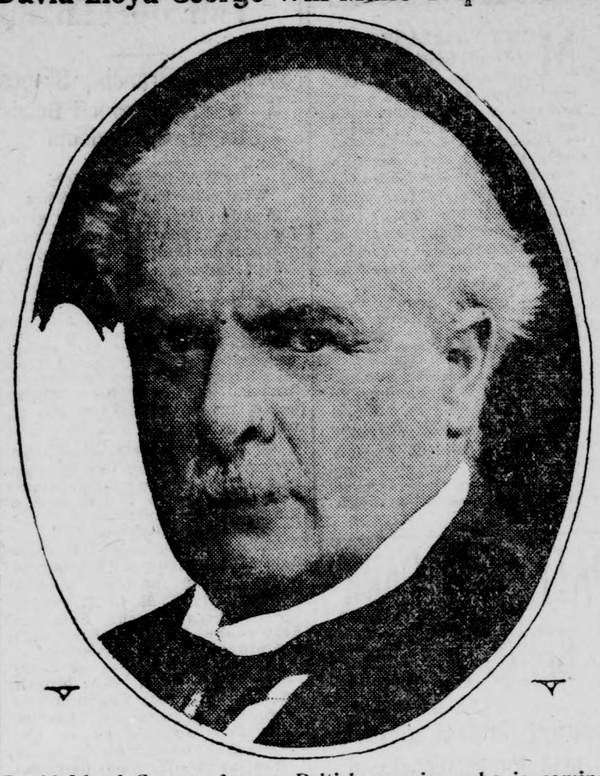

"It might be termed revolutionary," Griffin added, "for the reason there has never been a curriculum—in the strict sense of the word—in Los Angeles before."

The results of the survey are formulated in a series of monographs, one for each subject in the high school course, which is now in printed form and in possession of the teachers. Those monographs are to serve the 65 per cent of the pupils whose mentality rates as the average in intelligence and progress. Others for students above and below the "average" are in the process of preparation. The preliminary survey was submitted to the entire high school teaching body and a committee of 435 teachers are giving their time and the value of their experience with classes in working out the details of the new course of study.

Because of state supervision of text books in elementary schools, no latitude is permitted for local revision of elementary school courses of study and the latter remain practically the same, it was stated.

Adventures of Billy Whiskers

By Frances Trego Montgomery

Yesterday the little white dog found himself in a room with glass sides that trembled. He thought the trembling motion was the beginning of an earthquake, and he wished to get away. Then he tore frantically around the room, jumping over people's knees in his endeavor to reach the window. The conductor being a kind-hearted young fellow and fond of dogs, at last succeeded in catching and quieting him, taking Stubby up in his arms and stroking his hair and talking to him.

When the young fellow lifted Stubby up on his knes, he found that the whole of the little room was slowly rising in the air, and the conductor said to the people in the car "Don't walk about or move while we are in mid-air. Don't be frightened when the car begins to tremble for there is no danger. It only shakes when we begin to make the turn before descending."

Seeing none of the people acting as if excited, Stubby quieted down and began to enjoy the wonderful panorama of the Exposition lying beneath him.

The car of the Aeroscope rose straight up to a height of sixty-five feet. Then it made a circle and slowly began to descend until it arrived at its starting place. While it was making its ascent, circle and descent in the air, a most wonderful view of the Exposition grounds, Golden Gate harbor, San Francisco on its many hills, the inner harbor, Mount Tamalpais, and the cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Piedmont could be had. And if one wished to get a good idea of the size of the grounds and buildings of the Exposition and where they were situated, there was not a better way than by taking a ride in the Aeroscope.

When looking down on the grounds, it seemed like a toy city made of candy and fancy cakes, with towers of icing on them, inhabited by two-legged ants and insects of some kind which spent most of their time in the streets, for they were seen running and walking everywhere. Then one would see these two-legged insects jump in caterpillars that accommodatingly stopped every now and then for them to get on their backs. Then on the caterpillars would crawl all over the grounds with their loads and seem to take them just where they wished to go. Of course these caterpillars were the little open cars that ran through the grounds.

WHO'S WHO

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

REP. JOHN JOSEPH CASEY

Activities of the national legislators representing farming and labor constituents will be more closely watched than ever before when congress convenes next winter. This is, of course, due partly to the surprising elections of the past year and the consequent rise in power of the so-called "radicals."

Representative John Joseph Casey of Pennsylvania, returned to congress last spring after an absence of two years, is one of the veteran labor men in the lower house. Casey entered the house the first time for the sixty-third session and served in the sixty-fourth and sixty-sixth before meeting defeat three years ago.

He started life as a coal breaker, so knows labor problems from the ground up. He was born in Empire, Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, May 2, 1875. He attended public schools between periods in the mines and then was apprenticed out to the plumbing, gas and steamfitting trades. Eventually he went into business for himself and then entered the train service on roads in Pennsylvania.

He had taken an active part in union affairs for twenty years before entering politics, holding offices in local, state and international labor bodies. His first important political office was that of state representative. He was the only man, when elected, who ever had gone to the Pennsylvania house on a straight labor ticket.

When he entered the national house he became a member of the ways and means committee, the first trade unionist to serve on that committee.

He is married and has eleven children.

Marching with American Legion

George A. Withers of Clay Center, Kan., heads a national committee of the American Legion, charged with the duty of recommending measures to be taken for the care of orphans of men who fought in the World War.

The legion is not committed to the establishment of orphans' homes, but is investigating the various proposals submitted which include the placement of orphans in private homes and mothers' pensions as well as institutions.

During its investigations the committee has taken a census of all legion departments to ascertain what has been done in the various states for relief of war orphans. The committee's report will be submitted at the legion's national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19.

Members of the committee, in addition to Mr. Winters, are: Mark T. McKee, Michigan; Charles French, New Hampshire; William B. Healy, Pennsylvania; G. A. Warlick, North Carolina; Ralph K. Robertson, New York; E. E. Hollenbeck, Pennsylvania; John Gehlman, Idaho, and A. H. McKnew, California.

American Legion national headquarters has received hundreds of letters from United States senators, congressmen, newspaper editors and other leaders indorsing its campaign for an international air disarmament conference to halt the race in military air construction now in progress among the nations of Europe.

Among the authorities on international questions who have written is Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war.

Examination of school history books to determine if un-American or untruthful propaganda has crept into them will be asked of Ohio members of the American Legion in state convention by delegates of Robert E. Bentley post of Cincinnati. The post will ask the state legislature to appropriate funds to place an American flag in every Ohio schoolroom.

Expert marksmen from all parts of the country are expected to participate in the rifle meet which the American Legion will hold during its annual national convention in San Francisco this fall. Rules and regulations, in accordance with the war department's requirements, have been formulated. All legion departments and posts are being circularized and their sharpshooters invited to participate.

A fifty-grave plot in a local cemetery has been purchased by the American Legion post in Miami, Fla., for ex-service men who die without funds.

POEMS That LIVE

BEFORE THE RAIN

We knew it would rain, for all the morn
A spirit on slender ropes of mist
Was lowering its golden buckets down
Into the vapory amethyst.

Of marshes and swamps and dismal fens—
Scooping the dew that lay in the flowers,
Dipping the jewels out of the sea,
To scatter them over the land in showers.

We knew it would rain, for the poplar showed
The white of their leaves, the amber grains
Shrunk in the wind—and the lightning now
Is tangled in tremulous skeins of rain!

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BOBBY RINGTAIL

Once upon a time Bobby Ringtail, the little raccoon boy, came to pay a visit to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Bobby's sister Betty couldn't go because she had caught cold in her tail, and her mother feared lest some of the pretty rings might drop off.

"But, I'll tell you all about the good times I have when I come back," said Bobby to Betty.

Of course, that wasn't much for the little, ili raccoon girl, but it was better than nothing; wasn't it?

Well, when Bobby reached the hollow stump bungalow where the rabbit gentleman lived when he was at home, Nurse Jane opened the door.

"We are very glad to have you come and visit us, Bobby," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. Uncle Wiggily has gone to the store for me, but he will soon be back. But before he comes I want to say something very serious to you."

"Is it—now—is it about wiping my feet on the mat before I come in?" asked Bobby. "'cause if it's that I did—my mother told me that. We raccoons are very clean, you know, and my mother said you were clean, too, and I did wipe my paws, Nurse Jane!"

"Oh, bless your little tail rings, it wasn't that I was going to say!" laughed Nurse Jane. "But I want to warn you about the brook that runs down at the bottom of the garden path. You know that brook is very deep in places. Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck, says there are spots where it hasn't any bottom and—"

"Where's the place where the brook hasn't any bottom?" asked Bobby, eagerly. "I'd like to see that part, fine!"

"Well, I want you to keep away from that part," said Nurse Jane. "That's what I started to tell you about. The deep part of the brook is where Uncle Wiggily has built a little wooden bridge for me to go across on. That's when I have on my best dress and don't want to swim over. Besides, the brook has a very muddy bottom—that is, when it has any bottom at all—so, please be careful."

"I will" promised little Bobby Ringtail. And then, having put away his little nightie that he was to wear when he went to bed, and having taken his toothbrush to the bathroom, Bobby went out to walk around the hollow stump bungalow, waiting for Uncle Wiggily to return.

Soon Bobby wandered down to the brook.

"I'd just like to look at that place where Nurse Jane says it hasn't any bottom," thought the little raccoon boy. He crossed on the wooden bridge Uncle Wiggily had made.

"The water doesn't look very deep," whispered Bobby to himself. "And it doesn't seem very muddy. I guess I'll go in wading a little way. Nurse Jane won't care if I don't go in the deep part."

So Bobby took off his shoes and stockings, rolled his little trousers up as far as they would go and started to wade in the babbling brook.

At first everything was very lovely. The cool water gurgled over Bobby's paws, as he waded farther and farther out, and it tickled the end of his tail when he let it droop down.

"I don't believe Nurse Jane knows all about this brook," said Bobby, after a while. "We raccoons are supposed to go in water all we like. I'm going to wade farther in."

So Bobby did. At first the water came only to his knees. Then it went over his knees and began to wet the bottoms of his rolled-up trousers. Bobby tried to hoist them up higher but he couldn't. Then, all of a sudden, he felt himself sinking down in the soft mud at the bottom of the brook.

"Oh, I'm sinking! I'm going down in the quicksands!" he cried. "Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Nurse Jane! Somebody save me! I'm stuck in the mud! Oh, how I am stuck!"

And truly Bobby was! But just then along came Uncle Wiggily back from the store for Nurse Jane, and the bunny rabbit gentleman heard the cries of the little boy raccoon.

"Keep still, Bobby, and I'll pull you out!" said Uncle Wiggily. He reached out his red, white and blue-striped rheumatism crutch as far as he could, standing on the bank. Bobby caught hold of the crutch and Uncle Wiggily pulled. Bobby's paws were stuck so far down in the mud that it was hard work to get him out, but at last he came.

He waded farther and farther out.

"Oh, my goodness, Bobby, you're all mud!" cried Nurse Jane, who had heard the cries and had come running out. "You're so muddy!"

"Yes, Nurse Jane," said Bobby, sadly, as he looked at his muddied trousers. "I am muddy. But I found the bottom of the brook where you said there wasn't any. I sank down and then I stopped sinking and that was the bottom—even if it was muddy."

"Well, don't do it again," begged Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose.

"No'm—I mean no, sir," answered Bobby, as he washed some of the mud off his legs. And he never did.

So if the electric fan doesn't blow talcum powder in the eye of the needle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Betty's pie.

Dinner Stories

"How did you happen to quit sparking Miss Tootsie Bender?" asked an acquaintance.

"I didn't like music; that's why!" disgruntledly replied an Ozark swain. "Every night I was over there just as soon as I got seated old man Bender would come in, take down his infernal fiddle and begin to play. The longer he'd play the tireder I'd get, and then finally, when only about eleven o'clock he'd begin to saw off "Home, Sweet Home," I couldn't stand any more of it and lit out. And I hain't going back there neither!" — Kansas City Star.

Because she had made him wear short socks instead of stockings, the clergyman's wife was apprehensive when her small son Bobby returned from his first day at public school. When he had gone to kindergarten the boys had made fun of his abbreviated leg covering, and he had cried bitterly after his first school ray, Judge recites.

"Did the boys make fun of your socks?" asked his mother anxiously as Bobby swung through the gate.

"Tug Johnson did."

"What did my brave boy say?"

"I said, 'You got on stockings like your mother wears, and I am wearing socks like my dad.'"

"Pa," said Clarence, "when a man brags about himself, why do they speak of him as blowing his own horn?"

"Because, son, a horn is a wind instrument," replied his dad.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

Table of 100-Calorie Portions of Food

This is a table I have taken from the standard tables. I have condensed it so you can more easily remember the figures:

Bread

Slice 3x4x½ in. (1.3 oz.)
(White, whole wheat, gluten and rye practically the same caloric value per same weight.)
Boston brown slice 3x¾ in.
Corn slice 2x2x1 in.
French or Vienna roll..... 1
Popover 1
Muffins ¾
Zwieback, 3 slices....(3¼x½x1¼)

Crackers

Boston 1
Educator 1½
Graham 2
Oatmeal 1
Oyster 2-4
Saltines 6
Soda 4

Cakes and Cookies

Simple cake, piece 1¾ in. cube. Other cakes depend upon icing, fruit, nuts, etc. Compute approximately.
Plain cookies, 2 cookies 2¼ in. in diameter.
Ginger snaps 5
Ladyfingers 2-4
Macaroons 2
Doughnuts ½

Candies and Sweets

Chocolate fudge, piece 1½x¾x1.
Cocoa, 4 rounding teaspoons.
Plain hard candies, peppermints, molasses, lemon drops, etc., average about 100 calories per oz.
Chocolate and nut candies, on account of the oil in the chocolate and nuts, a little over ½ oz.
Honey averages 1 full tablespoonful.
Rich, thick syrups, jellies and marmalades approximately the same.
Sugar, 3 full cubes or 2 rounding teaspoons.
(Candies can be reckoned by the sugar.)

Cereals

Cooked cereals average ¾ cup—oatmeal, cracked wheat, farina and others.
Plain cooked macaroni, spaghetti and noodles the same. (When these are cooked with milk and cheese they probably average a little less than ½ cup.)

Dry Cereals

Puffed cereals, Post Toasties, cornflakes, popcorn, etc., average 1¼ cups.
Shredded Wheat Biscuit.....1 Bis.
Shredded Wheat Triscuit....2 Tris.
Grape-nuts, 2 rounding tablespoons.

Custards, Puddings, Etc.

Cup custard, cornstarch, blanc mange, etc.....Average 1-3-cup
Plain gelatin 1 scant cup
Simple rice, bread, tapioca, water ices, etc.....Average ½ scant cup
Ice cream (depends upon richness) ¼ cup

Pies

With top crust, about ¼ ordinary slice, or.....1¼ in Without top crust..... 2 in.

Dairy Products and Oils

Milk 5 oz. (5-8 cup)
Cream (thin).....¼ cup
Cream (thick)....1 1-3 tablespoons
Cream (whipped)....1 heaping tablespoon.
Skimmed milk..(12 oz. (1¼ cups)
Buttermilk..... (10 oz. (1¼ cups)
(Artificial buttermilk depends upon whether made with whole or skimmed milk.)
Condensed milk (unsweet), 3¾ tablespoons.
Condensed milk (sweet), 1½ tablespoons.
Malted milk and other dry milks, 1 rounding tablespoon.
Butter or margarines, 1 level tablespoon.
Olive oil and other oils and fats, 1 scant tablespoon.

Cheese

Most solid cheeses approximately 1 full cubic inch. (Full cream cheeses a little less.)
Cottage cheese, 2 heaping tablespoons.

Eggs

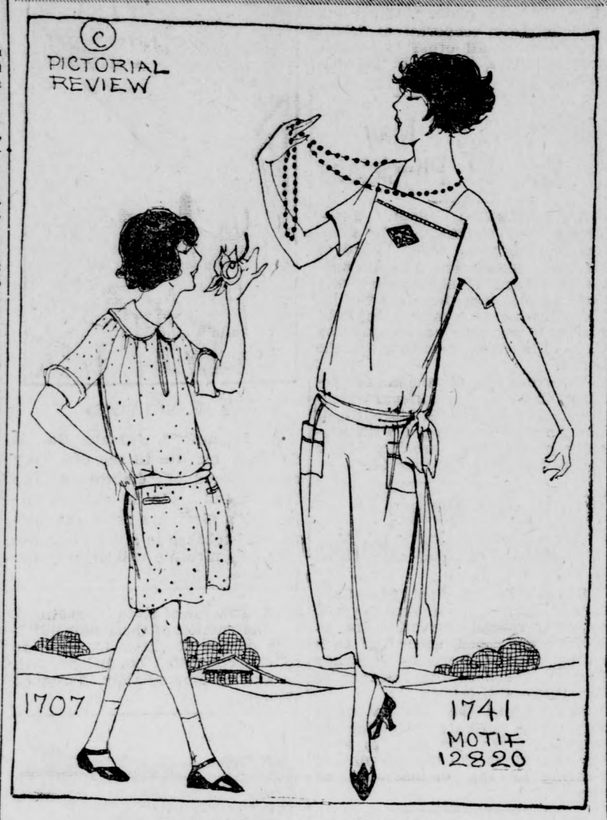

One egg is 75 C., one yolk 50-60, one white 15-20.

Tomorrow—Calories, Continued.

Daily Fashion Hint

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News

OBVIOUSLY INSPIRED BY PARIS

The little frock to the left is very pretty, though exceedingly simple. It is made of polka-dotted challis trimmed with organdy. If preferred, the skirt may be of one material and the waist of another. The dress is slashed at the center-front, the slashed edges being bound and finished for the closing. Wool Jersey with Paisley top would be ideal for this model. Medium size requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch material.

The new square front that is so becoming to youthful figures is emphasized in the second model. Ratine, twillcord, eponge or serge may be used for its development. The motif embroidered in contrasting colors gives a picturesque touch to the front of the dress, while the pockets are trimmed with hemstitching. The belt may be of ribbon or self-material. Medium size requires 3⅛ yards of 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Girls' and Juniors' Frock No. 1707. Sizes, 6 to 17 years. Price 35 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1741. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 46 inches bust. Price 45 cents. Motif No. 12820. Transfer, blue or yellow, 25 cents.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

I have often suggested hasty beauty treatments to make a tired face seem fresh again. Today I'd like to suggest ways to rest when you are so tired out you can't rest (a familiar feeling with many women, I'm afraid) which will make you look fresh, and not because of artificial stimulation.

Long experience has taught me that some forms of exhaustion are so great one can't relax, of oneself. Some outside, soothing force must come and help. Some physicians will even advise mild bromide, "enough," one of them put it, "to push you over the hilltop, when you just haven't the nerve force to make it yourself." But ordinarily bromides aren't needed and are a bad habit and should be taken on doctors' advice only.

If it's nervous exhaustion, office work, study, any kind of mental strain, with no muscular work, take a lot of vigorous exercise; a hot bath, a hot drink; roll up with a hot water bottle at your feet and try to sleep. Oh, yes, rub your head hard, with the hair down. All this stirs the sluggish blood, relaxes the tensed nerves, uses the muscles, breaks the great nervous strain. Do deep breathing exercises, quick arm exercises, bend swiftly again and again to touch the floor with your hands; stand on a hassock on one foot and vigorously swing the other leg a couple of dozen times. You'll be amazed at the change in the way you feel.

If it's physical exhaustion, it's easier to sleep. But even then, if the strain has been on only one set of muscles, a few brisk exercises will rest and relax the body. Stooping and bending exercises rest a tired back, for instance. Then again: a quick massage of the scalp (especially if the head aches) a bath, hot water bottle and a nap. A Turkish bath, followed by 12 hours in bed, is excellent when you are tired.

M. P. H.:—For a skin that is inclined to be dry—whenever hot water is used for cleansing—either cream or a fine oil should be massaged into the pores to make up to the skin for the temporary loss of the natural secretions. Such a treatment only amounts to an application of the oils from the finger tips, and when the pores have taken up what it needs, the surplus should be removed and the pores closed with very cold water or ice.

Here's a Soothing Course of Treatment

Gloria:—You will be able to lose the 15 pounds in six or eight weeks if you eat less of all the starchy foods, and omit as much sugar and oils as possible from your present diet.

"What cake do you bake most frequently for your own table?" I was recently asked. And, without a moment's hesitation, I replied, "Hot Milk Cake." I bake it oftenest, because it is the easiest cake to make, as well as being light and delicious. Most housewives bake it in loaf form, in a moderate oven for about 35 minutes, but I prefer it in cupcake form and baked in a hot oven. For the sake of my Bride Readers, who perhaps have not had much experience, I will give my recipe in "just how" form:

Hot Milk Cake: Break two eggs into a medium-sized mixing bowl and beat them well with an egg-beater. Then add to them one cup of granulated sugar and again beat with an egg-beater (this sounds easy, but you will find it very hard to do as the egg-and-sugar mixture is stiff and the egg-beater will not move swiftly. But beat it slowly, in this way for one full minute. Turn a heaping cup of ordinary bread flour into your flour-sifter (holding the sifter over the mixing bowl so that the flour which goes through will not be lost) and put a pinch of salt and one teaspoon of baking powder on top of the flour. Sift the flour into the mixing bowl, and beat all together till well mixed. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla extract, then add one-half cup of hot, sweet milk (have it very hot, but not boiled) and stir vigorously. Turn the batter at once into greased cup-cake pans and bake for about 12 minutes in a hot oven.

Old cooks will have doubts about the thinness of the batter, before baking. For it looks almost like pop-over batter. But, although the batter does not look like ordinary cake-batter that is, is not as thick as cake-batter usually is), it will make delicious little cakes. I make nine high, light cup cakes from this recipe, using a pan which has "wells" measuring three inches across the top, two inches across the bottom and one inch in depth.

Usually I do not frost these cakes. For they are almost as delicate as sponge cake and do not really need frosting. If, however, you wish to ice them, use an uncooked icing made as follows:

Frosting for Hot Milk Cake: Turn one cup of confectioners' sugar into a small bowl. Add to it enough sweet milk to make a stiff paste (you must add the milk very gradually—only a drop or two at a time—as it takes very little to moisten it). Now soften one tablespoon of butter and rub this into the icing. Add one-half teaspoon of vanilla, then rub in a very little more of the sugar, to make it stiff. Spread this on while the cakes are still hot.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me anything about my girl? She pretends to love me and goes with me steady and allows me to love and kiss her. But she takes me places with her just so she can see some of her former boy friends. She says she does not care for them any more, but is all the time talking about them. It seems that she has me along as a substitute only, so as to show other fellows that she is not alone. She keeps closer track of her former friends than she does me.

Why is it that she only invites me to be with her when it means expense to me? I met her one afternoon very late and at a distance from home. I felt that she wished my company and so I stopped her for a chat. She seemed very friendly and did not hesitate to stop and talk with me. Why did she invite me to meet her the next day and take her with her other friends some place of amusement where it mant expense to me and did not invite me to walk home with her that night? I thought she ought to have done so, but she didn't see it that way. Who is right? I think if a girl invites her friend to take her some place she ought to invite him to take her home also.

She is eight years my junior. She says that she loves me and I also love her. Tell me what is required of a fellow more than filling all his promises. BUBBLES.

Many girls wait for invitations and never invite young men to do anything. Your girl probably feels that she asks you to do so much, that she prefers to have you ask for some privileges so that she will not give you the impression that she is demanding too much of you. I presume if you had suggested walking home with her she would have shown pleasure in having you. Doubtless when she stopped to chat she thought you would ask to take her home.

Don't wait for her to make suggestions all the time. When you want to go to her house to call, ask for the privilege. The girl would also appreciate it if you would invite her to some of the places of amusement without her making the suggestion.

I presume that she does not realize how much she talks about her former friends. It is not polite of her to do so, but it is a failing which many young people have, young men as well as young women.

In case you find that she does not want you to come to her house and call and always demands amusements that cause expense I would advise you to look about for a less mercenary girl.

You ask what is required of a young man besides filling all his promises. Of course the more interesting and well-mannered a young man is, the more chance he has of being popular.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am not used to telling my troubles, but need your advice. I am thirteen years old and large for my age, and so I go with an older bunch. My other girl friends have dates. Will it be all right if I have a date once in a while although my parents object? JERRY.

You are too young to have "dates". Obey your parents because they have your interests at heart.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in love with a girl in her teens. There is another she cares a lot for and so I am undecided what to do. Please tell me what you would advise me to do. I am twenty years old. A SAILOR.

Perhaps you show the girl too much devotion. Find some other girl friends too, so that she will not know how much she means to you. When she is less confident of your regard for her she is apt to like you better.

It will probably prove exceedingly wise to have the Leviathan and Majestic sail in opposite directions. Then both can retain the speed championship.

On the Spur of the Moment

SONG ON SPIRITS AMPHIBIOUS!

Let me reminisce and dream of days of old,
When caravel plunged thru the seething sea,
When the swarthy buccaneers Swarmed aboard the privateers
Bearing shekels from the Sheik of Araby.
Let me listen to the soothing waters' lap—
There's a tiny ship goes bobbing on each crest,
Tho beset by sudden gales It ever onward sails
To the mystic regions rising to the west.
Let me rest awhile, contented with my dreams,
While the waters swirl around my weary feet
There are tales of wild romance On the waters' broad expanse—
There are tales of mighty conquest and defeat.
Impatient seem the little wavelets all,
As they end their lives in foolish, futile foam—
Did the roaring Spanish Main See me write this wild refrain?
Wrong, I wrote it in my bathtub safe at home!
—Arthur L. Lippmann.

The Football Idol

Lycurgus was the huskiest of all the college team.
His kicking was a classic and his running was a scream.
The enemy all took to flight, their terror ill-concealed.
Whene'er he grabbed the pigskin and went tearing down the field.
He was the very limit in the strenuous pastime;
To ask a man to tackle him was nothing but a crime.
He was the strongest man they'd had in twenty-seven years;
He always left the field bestrewn with arms and legs and ears.
But back home in vacation time, his strength just failed, I vow,
He was so weak he couldn't think of following the plow.
He couldn't hoe potatoes and he couldn't split the wood.
Although he told his parents he would like to if he could.
He simply seemed to pine away and dwindle as a rule,
'Till in the fall when time came 'round for him to go to school.
Then he'd recover suddenly and take an awful brace,
In feats of strength a deal depends upon the time and place.

Fred Kidd, is a great admirer of birds, and believes in giving them every encouragement that is possible. Therefore he cries out because your fledgings just out of the nest and not able to fly are gobbled up by neighborhood cats. He says some of his neighbors have even boasted that they do not have to feed their cats because they are able to exist on the birdlets which they kill. "There should be a law of some kind passed which will guard the young birds against the cat menace," declares Mr. Kidd. We indorse all that he says and hope some kind hearted statesman will push through a bill next winter making it a misdemeanor for hungry cats to eat young birds. The cats have been allowed too much freedom. With such a law staring him in the face any fool cat will think twice before he leaps.

"I haven't felt a mosquito this summer, not one."

"I just love those cute thunder and lightning storms. I love to go out and sit under a tree."

Raisins Nearly Ruined by Heavy Rainfall

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Reports received at the state department of agriculture indicated that the heavy rainfall of last night materially damaged raisins drying in paper trays in the San Joaquin valley. Owing to the flimsy nature of the trays they could not be stacked, according to G. H. Hecke, director of agriculture. The raisins most exposed were a total loss.

Heavy losses will be suffered by grape growers if the rain continues for another day, declared Hecke, as 60 per cent of the crop is still on the vines.

Triumph over one's self is a spiritual achievement.

Hassyampa Slaying Charged to Quartet

PHOENIX, Sept. 26.—Four persons were under arrest today on warrants charging murder in connection with the disappearance in July, 1921, of John J. Knight, wealthy Texas oil man, whose car was found on a lonely road on the bank of the Hassyampa river. They are Tom Tunstall, proprietor of the Hassyampa garage, his sister, Esther Lee Tunstall, and C. W. McBiles and Mrs. L. Smith of Miami. Seven persons were arrested two years ago in connection with the case, but were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Governor Richardson Victim of Tonsilitis

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—From his sick bed in the gubernatorial mansion Governor Richardson has announced the appointment of John F. Pullen, Sacramento attorney, as judge of the Sacramento county superior court.

The governor's condition was reported as "unimproved" in a bulletin issued by his physician.

"Governor Richardson is suffering from a bad attack of tonsilitis," said the statement, "and will be unable to return to work for several days."

The hammock is supposed to be of West Indian origin.

Utilities Will Test Validity of Gas Tax

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Reports that the public utility corporations of the state will refuse to pay the new state gasoline tax, and will demand that the validity of the measure be tested in the state courts, were received at the Capitol today.

The public utilities hope to escape taxation under the act by reason of Section 14 of Article 13 of the Constitution, which provides that the gross receipts tax collected from corporations "shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, state, county or municipal."

Medical Board May Bar 13 Physicians

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Thirteen physicians will be summoned before the State Board of Medical Examiners at its next meeting here, to show cause why they should not be deprived of their license to practice in California, it was announced today by C. B. Pinkham, secretary of the board.

Twelve of the physicians are accused of performing illegal operations. Dr. Charles S. Meredith of Los Angeles is charged with illegally prescribing narcotics. The board will meet October 17.

Wright Act Ruling Bans Private Sleuths

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—California sheriffs are not empowered to hire special investigators in Wright act cases, according to a ruling handed down by Attorney General Webb at the instance of San Diego authorities.

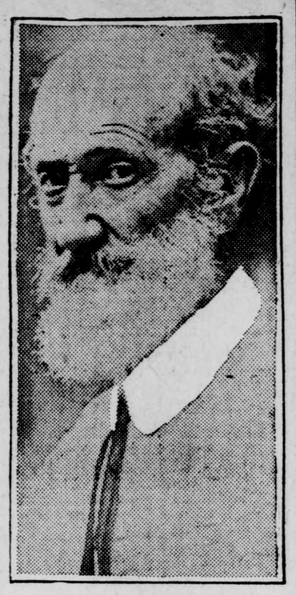

Webb ruled that the authority to employ private investigators was not given the sheriffs in a law passed by the last legislature relating to the employment of special officers.

New State Hospital Buildings Cost Much

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—More than half a million dollars will be expended in the construction at state hospitals of new buildings which are either under way or about to be started, it was announced today by E. G. Twogood, director of state institutions.

Construction of three new buildings at the Stockton hospital, to relieve congested conditions, will be started immediately, Twogood said.
